Mercury Writers Win Top Honors In State Contest

The Pottstown Mercury won the greatest number of top honors this year in the Statewide Better Writing contest for the second time in the contest's 5-year history, it was announced yesterday.

Entries of Mercury editorial and news writers were entered, as usual, in Division I of the contest, which is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Society of Newspaper Editors; the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' association and the Department of Journalism, Pennsylvania State college.

Joint Board Group to Pick Site of School

A four-man committee from the recently-formed New Hanover Upper Frederick Joint Elementary School board is expected to open preliminary negotiations within a few days for the purchase of one of six sites in New Hanover township for the construction of a proposed school.

The committee chose the sites in a recent survey of the township. Its job now is to confer with the owners of the properties and sound them out on the possibility of buying one of the sites, which have not been identified.

If the owner of the site the board finally selects balks at selling, the Joint board can condemn the site and the owner would be paid whatever a Montgomery county jury of view believes the location is worth.

Once a site is chosen, the board will have eliminated the chief stumbling block to the school's construction.

ARCHITECT Marshall Hughes, of Reading, has told directors of the boards which formed the joint in April, New Hanover, Upper Frederick and Swamp and Fagleyville Independent, that he could not complete plans for the proposed school until a site is chosen.

He must consider the topography (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Another Banner Sought for Town

Pottstown bicentennial committee is going to try again to get a banner for the borough's main intersection.

This was reported yesterday by Thomas A. McCaslin, 3d, of the committee, who said he planned to visit the banner-makers Monday to try to work out a plan whereby a new banner could be obtained for the $350 that the committee was to pay for the first one.

McCaslin said he thought that a net-banner might be obtained this time.

The first one, made of solid cloth, was strung across High street on Wednesday afternoon. On Thursday afternoon, it was ripped into two huge pieces by the wind and had to be taken down.

A spokesman for the flag company said the question of the extent of the company's liability for the ripped banner would have to be negotiated between McCaslin (Continued on Page Eleven)

Sun Shines, But Weather Is Cool

In spite of a bright sun yesterday, the mercury failed to move higher than 70 degrees. The chill in the air was felt even more because of the brisk wind, and many women dressed for a Summer day had to return to their homes for toppers.

It was clear all day yesterday without even the slightest threat of a cloudburst, a condition which Pottstonians became well accustomed to in the past week.

Fleecy, fair weather clouds moving swiftly in a clear blue sky made a welcome picture compared with the dark, cumulo-nimbus which hung overhead the past week to plague the area.

THE WEATHER

For Eastern Pennsylvania: Cloudy and cool today with a few showers mostly in south and west portions. Highest temperature 60 to 65 degrees. Tomorrow cloudy and continued cool with showers.

Tractor Topples, Killing Farmer

G. Burton Jones Dies From Injuries to Chest

By FRED C. SELBY
(Mercury Staff Writer)

A well-known Pottstown area chicken farmer and church leader was killed yesterday afternoon when his tractor toppled backward on him in a field at the rear of the yard in which his wife was hanging up the wash.

G. Burton Jones, 54, of Unionville, Douglassville RD 1, was pronounced dead on arrival at Pottstown hospital. His chest was crushed. He died almost instantly.

In addition to having a large poultry farm, he had an egg route in Pottstown and vicinity that he served by truck.

He recently completed a 3-year term as a member of the church council of Pottstown's St. James Lutheran church.

His wife, Elizabeth, was the first to look across the field and see the small front wheels of the red tractor sticking in the air. She was the first to reach him.

Jones apparently had been trying to have the tractor pull free a disc-harrow that had become stuck in moist ground. The tractor was pulled backward on its big rear wheels by its own power.

WARREN BUSH, Douglassville, who's worked on the chicken farm for the past two years, reached the tractor only a few minutes after the wife did. He said the tractor was upside down across his body. His head was in the clear. His legs were doubled under him.

Bush said: "He was just completely pinned under... Blue..." (Continued on Page Five)

Lawyer Will File Charges On Teacher

A formal, written statement of charges against Mrs. Mary H. Trethewey, First and Second grade teacher at the Colebrookdale school, will be filed with the Douglass township, Berks county, school board by Wednesday or Thursday, Louis Sager, Pottstown attorney, declared last night.

The written statement of charges against Mrs. Trethewey was requested by the board through its solicitor, Ralph C. Body, Boyertown attorney, in compliance with the provisions of the teacher tenure law.

The board said it would gladly hold a hearing for her on the charges when the state- (Continued on Page Eight)

State Is Asked To Meditate in Strike on Farm

The Amalgamated Tobacco, Food and Allied Workers union (CIO) has requested the Pennsylvania State Mediation board to intercede in the 3-day-old strike of 31 employees of the Funk Fruit Farm, incorporated, in Gabelsville, it was disclosed last night.

Harry Faust, of Boyertown RD 1, one of two truck drivers whose discharge Wednesday by Sheldon W. Funk, the farm's owner, the workers are protesting, said last night a CIO field representative of the union noted that the board had been asked to enter the dispute.

The representative, Ben Ardalan, of Philadelphia, also presented union membership cards to 25 of the employees at a meeting in the Shanesville fire house. Among the 25 was Stanley Vovericz, of Norma's valley, the other discharged driver.

Minister Hurt When He Strolls Into Moving Car

The Rev. Ralph R. Frey, pastor of First Church of the Brethren, was injured slightly yesterday afternoon when he walked into the side of a moving car on High street, between Washington and Franklin streets.

"It was one of those things a fellow does sometimes," the Rev. Frey said last night. "I was crossing the street without walking to the corner."

Virginia Anne Snapp, Ardmore, the driver of the car, said she was driving west on High street in the second lane when the Rev. Frey walked out from in front of a car in the first lane.

She tried to stop, she added, but the right front fender of her car struck him and knocked him down. He suffered a cut of the lip which was treated at the office of Dr. J. G. Shade, Pottstown physician.

The Rev. Frey, who said he was crossing in the middle of the street to get to his car, remarked:

"It was all my fault. I walked (Continued on Page Eleven)

Potato Famine Shows Signs of Ending Shortly

It's probably not enough to prompt Pottstown area housewives to do cartwheels in the middle of High street today, but the fact that last night a borough supermarket manager forecasted the imminent easing of the potato shortage should make them smile more than they have in the past few weeks as they eyed practically barren spud shelves.

The manager reported: "The California long whites will be coming in very shortly and I think that will ease the shortage."

The California potatoes will be those the Department of Agriculture said earlier this week were being left in the ground to gain weight because the farmers could not obtain (Continued on Page Eight)

Away for 33 Years, Brother Writes Home

ALLAN AMOLE... As he looked 33 years ago.

A Pottstown man who hadn't heard a word about his brother since the brother left the borough 33 years ago received a letter from him yesterday that was a result of a small social item in The Mercury.

The letter was mailed the past Tuesday from the Panama Canal Zone by Allan Amole, long-missing youngest brother of George Amole, 216 High street.

The Pottstown man's wife said, "My husband hadn't heard a word from his brother in the years since he left. None of the family did. We thought he was probably dead."

As youngsters, the brothers were split up after the death of their parents, but kept in touch with each other until Allan left Pottstown.

THE POTTSTOWN woman said, "My husband was so excited when he got the letter! It's really such a— it's so— why! it's just wonderful!" she exclaimed with a broad smile.

The long-missing brother explained in the letter that he had ordered The Mercury mailed to him during the period in which he was getting ready to leave the Canal Zone for a return to America.

"I ran across an item in the paper April 29," he wrote, "where a dinner party was held at the home of Mrs. George Amole, 216 High street, and thus I got my first clue to what I was looking for."

Mrs. Amole brought the letter to The Mercury office, saying: "I thought I ought to let people know how The Mercury gets around and the good it does."

The letter was addressed to the (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Alarm Box Action Slated in Norco

The aid of North Coventry township supervisors will be sought to untie the knot that has delayed for four months the ordering of South Pottstown's first fire alarm box.

This was reported yesterday by Victor Wagner, South Pottstown businessman who was spokesman for the community group that started the move to get the alarm box the past January, and John W. Snyder, Pottstown electrical contractor, who will install the box whenever it arrives.

Wagner said he will try to contact the supervisors over the weekend to get their aid in (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Ministers-to-Be and Their Pastor

The Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse, pastor of Emmanuel Lutheran church, reads the Scriptures with two members of Emmanuel, who graduated from the Lutheran theological seminary, Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, this past Wednesday. Alton H. Wedde (left), and Donald R. Schaeffer (right), will be ordained at the 205th convention of the Lutheran ministerium of Pennsylvania next week in Buck Hill Falls, Pa. Wedde will be installed as pastor of St. James Lutheran church and Schaeffer will be installed as pastor of Reformation Lutheran church, Reiffton.

Emmanuel Will Give 2 Pastors to Ministry

Emmanuel Lutheran congregation will contribute its seventh and eighth pastors to the ministry in the history of the church next week.

Donald R. Schaeffer and Alton H. Wedde, both members of the Hanover and Walnut streets church, will be ordained at the 205th convention of the Lutheran ministerium of Pennsylvania, which will be held Monday through Thursday of next week, at Buck Hill Falls, Pa.

Schaeffer and Wedde were graduated from the Lutheran Theological seminary in Philadelphia this past Wednesday.

Five men of Emmanuel have been ordained since 1942. Only two others from the congregation became ordained pastors before the Rev. Dr. Luther A. Krouse assumed the pastorate in 1932.

SCHAEFFER will be installed as pastor of Reformation Lutheran church, Reiffton, on Sunday, May 25. The Rev. Paul N. Dundore, president of the Reading conference, will perform the act of installation and Dr. Krouse will deliver the charge.

Wedde will be installed as pastor of St. James Lutheran church, Limerick, on Sunday, June 15, by the Rev. Theodore L. Fischer, pastor of Transfiguration Lutheran church and president of the Norristown conference. Dr. Krouse will give the charge.

Schaeffer, a son of the late Christine Schaeffer, has been a member of Emmanuel church since 1946. He was reared in the Lutheran home, (Continued on Page Eight)

Topton, and was graduated from Muhlenberg college in 1949 and the following Fall entered the Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, seminary.

He married the former Lucille Hartung, March 21, 1948 and has been making his home with his father-in-law Jay J. Hartung, Pottstown R 1.

DURING WORLD War II he served in the Army in the European theater for nearly three years.

Wedde, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Wedde, Hegins, Pa., also was graduated from Muhlenberg college. On Sept. 2, 1950, he married Beverly Peterman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton H. Peterman, 857 North Franklin street.

He served two years in the Army during World War II.

The five pastors ordained since Dr. Krouse came to Emmanuel in 1932 are the Rev. Luther H. Bealer, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, Lebanon, 1942; the Rev. William H. Ralston, pastor of Calvary Lutheran church, West Chester, 1943; the Rev. Carl E. Koppenhaver, director of news service, United Lutheran church in America, 1945.

Also, the Rev. Samuel Krouse, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, Summit Hill, Pa., 1950, and the Rev. Earl W. Feight Jr., pastor of Holy Communion Lutheran church, Berlin, N. J., 1951.

Ordained prior to Krouse's pastorate at the church were the Rev. L. J. Bickel, 1882, and the Rev. Norman Y. Ritter, pastor of Trinity Lutheran church, Perkaskie, 1907. The Rev. Bickel died in 1935.

MRS. MARY H. TRETHEWEY

Seriously Sick Girl Unchanged

Barbara Moyer, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Moyer, 6 Warwick settlement, believed to be a victim of infantile paralysis, was in an unchanged condition in the isolation ward of Montgomery hospital, Norristown, last night.

A diagnosis of her ailment has not been established yet, hospital authorities reported, but she has been resting comfortably.

The youngster was rushed to the hospital Thursday night when her breathing became difficult and it was thought she might require an iron lung.

Further tests were made yesterday in an effort to determine her illness. The results are expected today or tomorrow.

Two previous spinal taps had been made, with one showing more signs of spinal meningitis than infantile paralysis and the other disclosing just the opposite.

High School Pupils Fashion Show Held In Local Auditorium For Over 500

Convincing over 500 Senior High school pupils that you've done something worth a second look, especially when they are your classmates, is no easy task, but members of the Home Economics department of the school cracked the ice yesterday afternoon with a fashion show.

The clothing, all made in the school by the girls who modeled them, were expertly done and in up-to-date, but simple, styles. It was explained by the commentator, Verna Lee, one of the pupils, that the clothes today are reminiscent of the Victorian era, with crinolines reaching their peak in fashion importance.

"Today's ballooning petticoats and skirts, cinched waists and arched hips all show influence of the styles of Queen Victoria's Day," she said. "The typically American Gibson Girl, too, is making her imprint in 1952 through jaunty sailors, blouses and snug belted waists."

CLOTHING SUITABLE for travel, sports, school and evening wear were shown, with travel beginning the show.

Doris Shollenberger showed a blue corduroy suit that was good for travel or spectator sports. It was styled with a straight skirt and had a full jacket. A similar style was shown by Sonia Evenstead, only this time in a jumper that wrapped around the hips with the side fastened by self-covered buttons.

AN AQUA corduroy straight skirt with gold weskit was selected by Adeline Minotto, who reported that her entire outfit cost only $3.50 to make.

A lovely tan nylon shantung two piece suit was shown by Dolores Herner. The jacket was bolero style with a high collar and bat sleeves, while the skirt was full and gored.

As a travel accessory Dorothy Buckhamer showed a duster made of dull yellow-cotton and shot with gold threads. Barbara Hanson's lounging pajamas, made of satin and crepe, made a hit with the audience. The jacket was quilted, satin print made like a Tommy coat and the trousers were of bright red crepe.

FOR PARTYING, Rose Bachmurski appearing in a striped rayon taffeta dress that was both practical and pretty, and featured a tricky white collar. Also for parties or dates was a two piece taffeta of green with a black taffeta blouse shown by Joan Gift.

A yellow corduroy weskit that buttoned down the back, and a matching skirt which was softly draped, was shown by Betty Confinio. With this she wore a blouse of a pastel shade of blue nylon.

Practical for any school girl was the brown tweed jumper shown by Virginia Witman. The full skirt and plain bodice can be combined with almost any type and shade of sweater or blouse.

GOOD LOOKING in every respect was the soft wool check skirt made and modeled by Helene Hale. With this she wore the ever popular tailored blouse with French cuffs. The blouse featured a tailored collar with a band ending in pointed tabs in the back.

Sophisticated in a girlish way was the purple sheath jumper shown by Gwen Manthorne. Adding dash to the costume was a matching stole, without which the jumper could be used for casual affairs.

For school clothes Barbara Shanley showed her brown and blue plaid wool skirt worn with a soft blue wool jersey blouse—a rich looking outfit. Martha Sheha selected a red gabardine outfit with full softly pleated skirt and inverted pockets. Her weskit of the same material, was closed at the collar.

ANOTHER SKIRT and weskit was shown by Joy Sieler. This time the skirt was red, plaid, pleated, and the weskit of red corduroy was piped in black.

Irene Cochran wore a soft wool and rayon navy and gray plaid jumper with a full skirt and inverted pockets. The front closed with buttons and the outfit was highlighted by a gold compelet belt.

A green rayon check material was used by Claudette Clifford for her full skirt and weskit styled with a snug waistline and pert pepum. A stole and jumper ensemble was shown by Pat Whalen, who chose a rust shade material. Feature of the outfit was the deep stole which ended in a point in the back.

Cotton school clothes were next on the list, and the girls did justice to one of the nations old standby as far as material is concerned. Shirley Missimer proved that cotton can come out of the kitchen in a navy linen skirt which was softly pleated. She wore a tailored blouse with a frilly dickey to make a combination that looked nice to wear and nice to see.

A FLOWERED skirt in tones of blue was chosen by Etta Gillis. Her blouse was plain and tailored. Dorothy Stoudt wore a gray and white dress of geometric design. The full skirt was pleated and the bodice was plain to emphasize the design. A red belt and shoes picked up highlights in the outfit.

A gay flowered broomstick skirt, topped with a sheer blouse was made and modeled by Sarendia Gibson. Costumes like this showed that the girls were thinking ahead to a warm Summer.

Students See Mother-Daughter Style

Mrs. Thelma Robinson, (above), accompanied by her daughter, Judy, showed over 500 High school pupils the results of her sewing skill. She is a teacher in the Home Economics department of Pottstown Senior High school. Her department gave a fashion show yesterday in the school auditorium.

Men Act as Waiters At Mother-Daughter Fete Held by WSWs

Nine men, members of the Baltimore Evangelical United Brethren congregation, served as waiters Thursday night for the annual mother-daughter banquet held in the church by the Women's Society of World Service.

Approximately 38 mothers and their daughters attended the affair, which opened with greetings from the president, Mrs. Guy Mason.

The program was highlighted with a pantomime, "Christ Calls Through Our Homes," directed by Mrs. John Schwenk. Mrs. Oliver Bealer read the story, and pantomimists were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Rhoads and children, Gary and Karen Sue; the Rev. John L. Smoker, pastor, Mrs. Smoker, and their children, Joanne and James; Mrs. Clarence Neiman and son, Terry; Carol Boughter, Barbara Schaffer, Mrs. Janet Marquette and Ruth Shollenberger.

A BRIEF business session was conducted, during which Mrs. Edward Mentzer reported on the Missionary Education study course, and Mrs. James Simpson gave a partial report on the recent missionary convention in Lancaster.

Each mother and daughter present was gifted with a paper-mache corsage and carnations.

Mrs. Mason was chairman of the general committee, assisted by: Mrs. Mentzer, Mrs. Irene Schaffer, Mrs. Roy Shollenberger and Mrs. Smoker. In charge of the tables were Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Marquette and Mrs. William Riley.

The Rev. Smoker was a special guest at the dinner, as was the Rev. William Kauler.

George Sotters Observe Two Holidays, Birthday

Christmas, Easter and a 75th birthday anniversary all were observed last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Sotter, West High street.

Mrs. Sotter was the birthday anniversary celebrant, and a large cake centered the dinner table in her honor.

The entire family, Mr. and Mrs. Sotter and their children and grandchildren, observed Christmas with a traditional turkey dinner, which they were unable to have at the Christmas season or on Easter Sunday, due to the absence of the Sotters' son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Sotter, who reside in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sotter and their children, George, Ann and William Rutter, will remain as weekend guests of the J. George Sotters.

A large bouquet of mixed tulips also decorated the dining table, and Mrs. Sotter, guest of honor, received many gifts from those attending: Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Sotter and sons, Jack and David; Miss Mary Sotter of Reading, sister of Mr. J. George Sotter, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sotter and family.

For delicious daquiris rim the cocktail glass with powdered sugar.

Committees for Year Named at Meeting Of Nantmeal WSCS

Committees for the coming year were named recently at a meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of Nantmeal Methodist church, held at the home of Mrs. Lewis Mourar, East Nantmeal.

Mrs. James Murray was selected to serve as spiritual life secretary, with a committee composed of Mrs. Ruth Finkbinder, Mrs. Robert Cozzens and Mrs. B. C. Dahms.

Other committees named were: Program, Mrs. Horace Cook and Mrs. Leonard Cadwell; card, Mrs. Clair McAfee and Mrs. Ira Wilson, and membership, Mrs. Harry Reed, Mrs. Davis Loomis, Mrs. Werner Moentmann, Mrs. Luther Kulp and Mrs. Karl Garvine.

PRESIDENT Mrs. Irma M. Gordon conducted the business session, during which plans were made for a parcel post social at the June meeting, and a tureen supper on the lawn of the parsonage in July. Also planned was a bake sale on Saturday, May 24.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Grace Murray, who gave a resume of the recent Philadelphia conference of WSCS. Also attending the conference with Mrs. Murray were the Rev. B. C. Dahms, pastor of the church; Mrs. Dahms, Mrs. Horace Cook and Mrs. Herford Downing.

Mrs. Cadwell, secretary, gave her report, as did Miss Ethel Eachus, supply secretary; Mrs. Loomis and Mrs. Reed, visiting committee. A new member, Mrs. Earl Herpst, was presented by Mrs. Reed.

The devotional period, on the theme, "What Is in Thine Hand?" was in charge of Mrs. Joseph Thomas, Mrs. James Murray and Mrs. Cozzens, and the lesson discussion, on "The Bridges of Understanding in the Near East," was conducted by Mrs. Cadwell.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Mrs. Mourar and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Cadwell and Mrs. Robert Dunlap.

Monthly Meeting Held By Pleasant Run Women

The Pleasant Run Women's club recently held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Kulp, Perkiomenville RD.

After a luncheon served at noon the meeting was started with the reading of a prayer. The prayer was written by Mrs. Frances A. Derr, East Greenville, and was dedicated to Mr. Herman Schenck, now serving in Korea.

Mrs. Ethel Evans presided at the meeting due to the illness of Mrs. Helen Swann, president. Mrs. Sara Swann and Mrs. Marie Swann will make miniature aprons to be sent to each member instead of having the usual bake sale this Spring. Members are to put a donation in the pocket of the apron and send or bring them to the next meeting on June 19 at the home of Mrs. Ethel Evans, Perkiomenville RD.

MRS. HELEN Smiley won the pig in the box and the two door prizes were won by Mrs. Helen Schultz and Mrs. Viola Lick.

The following members attended:

Mrs. Lick, Mrs. Lottie Swann, Mrs. Katie Miller, Mrs. Florence Greiss, Mrs. Schultz, Mrs. Eva Harpel, Mrs. Ruth Harpel, Mrs. Carol Kulp, Mrs. Olivia Moyer, Mrs. Mabel Kulp, Mrs. Swann, Mrs. Verna Schneck, Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Joyce Embody, Mrs. Elsie Renninger, Mrs. Swann, Mrs. Helen Rankin and Mrs. Smiley. Mrs. Mary Kulp and Mrs. Doris Swann were guests.

Every time you use your pressure saucepan, make sure that the vent tube is clear. A pipe cleaner will be useful in cleaning it.

Legion Hears Man Talk on Air Spotting

Albert Early, chief air observer of Berks county, addressed members of the Charles B. Yerger Post 471, American Legion, at their meeting in the new Legion home.

Early spoke to the group on air spotting and stressed the need for help in manning the Boyertown post. He stated that it takes 12 persons to man one shift in a single day. He urged anyone wishing to help in air spotting, to contact either Ralph C. Horn or Clifford Allen.

Chester Linsensbiger, Richard L. Rhoads and Willard W. Trethewey were enroled as new members of the post while former members, Gordon A. Schmoey and Henry C. Repert, were reinstated in good standing, bringing the total membership of the post to 549.

It was reported that the annual carnivals conducted by the post will again be held on the Friendship Hook and Ladder company parking lot this summer.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Is Set Tonight at Gym

The Junior class of the Boyertown High school is sponsoring a "Sadie Hawkins" dance tonight between the hours of 8:30 and 11:30 o'clock in the High school gymnasium.

The girls will be dating and escorting the boys and will provide their escorts with corsages made out of fruit and vegetables.

Prizes will be awarded for the best corsages, followed by the eating of each corsage. Judges for the event are members of the faculty: Mrs. Hazel R. Swavely, Mrs. Margaret Hanley and Wilbur Savage.

Sherwood Yerger and his orchestra from Pottstown will furnish the music. Admission charge is 50 cents and the public is invited to attend.

Haddad Is Named Alternate to Go to Conservation School

Charles Haddad, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Haddad, 724 East Philadelphia avenue, has been named as an alternate to attend a youth conservation school at Penn State college this summer at a meeting of the Federated Sportsmen's clubs of Berks county, held at the Pike Township Sportsmen's association, Pikeville.

Two boys each from Reading and the county area were selected to attend the school. William B. Arndt, Reading, and Richard Werner, at Mohnton High school, were named the official sophomores to attend, with Robert Gosch, Reading, and Haddad serving as alternates.

The boys were selected by a committee, including Dr. Thomas Ford, superintendent of Reading schools; Newton W. Geiss, county school superintendent; Frank Keim, former Boyertown resident and now residing in Kutztown; Earl Brown and Harold Marberger.

The boys will attend the camp from June 20 to July 3. They will receive training on all outdoor conservation subjects, with the local federation paying their expenses.

Miss Winifred Y. Moyer, a member of the Boyertown High school faculty, handled the application in the high school for the county federation, making it possible for Haddad to be selected.

Sons to Return To Italy Upon Mother's Plea

A heart-tugging letter from an 80-year-old mother in Fresagrandinari Italy, expressing a desire to see her two sons again before she dies will be in the luggage of German "Gerry" Melchiorre, of 62 West Vine street, Stowe, today, as he and his brother, John of Bridgeport, sail from New York city to fulfill their mother's wish.

When the brothers enter their ailing mother's home in about a week it will be the first time in 32 years for John and 22 years for Gerry that they will have seen and caressed their mother, who 40 years ago refused to leave her native land with her American-born husband because she owned vineyards there.

In the letter, which the men received about a month ago, Mrs. Thelma Melchiorre asked her sons to visit her because she did not expect to live much longer. The aged mother has been ill for many months.

Her husband, Dominic, a retired railroad watchman living in Monocacy, has visited his wife many times since his arrival in this country.

GERRY, A 45-year-old crane operator at Pottstown's Bethlehem Steel plant, has obtained a three-months leave of absence from his job to make the trip.

He and his 52-year-old brother, who hope to persuade their mother to return to the United States with them, will sail from Italy Aug. 11.

Gerry came to this country in 1928 and returned to Italy two years later to marry his wife, Loretta, and bring her back with him. It was during that visit he last saw his mother.

Since his original arrival here he has lived in Birdsboro, Monocacy and Stowe. He moved to Stowe in 1946.

THE BROTHERS will leave by automobile for New York about 6 o'clock this morning. With them in two cars will be their wives and father, Gerry's daughter, Mary, and her fiancée, Russell Bacchi, and John's two daughters and sons-in-law.

Bacchi and the relatives will drive home from New York shortly after bidding "bon voyage" to the brothers.

N. J. Jury to Hear Case of Area Driver On Father's Death

The case of an East Greenville RD 1 man charged with involuntary manslaughter after his father was killed in a truck he was driving this past April 27, will come before a Warren county, New Jersey, grand jury Friday.

Judge George Shipman, Belvidere, Warren county, reported yesterday a hearing on a charge of reckless driving against Philip Fadil, 38, has been postponed until the grand jury makes a decision.

The judge explained the involuntary manslaughter charge is automatic in New Jersey after an accident in which a person dies.

A hearing on the reckless driving charge originally was scheduled for yesterday at Phillipsburg before Shipman. The judge conducts traffic hearings in Belvidere and Phillipsburg in Warren county.

The accident occurred early on the morning of April 27 when Philip Fadil, driving a late-model, walk-in truck was returning from New York city with his father George Fadil, 65, and ran off Route 24, 2 1/2 miles east of Phillipsburg, and struck a concrete abutment.

The elder Fadil, whose head dashed against the windshield, was killed instantly. The son told State police of the Washington, N. J., barracks he fell asleep at the wheel.

THE MANAGER said his store has received about 4000 pounds of potatoes during the past week, but he expected those remaining last night to be gone by closing time.

Another supermarket manager said his store has had only about 150 pounds of spuds all week and that he has heard nothing about the shortage easing.

Allen Rosen, owner of the United Food Market, Charlotte and Oak streets, claimed he has been able to obtain his normal supply, "but I've had to limit them to five pounds per customer and stop selling baskets and 15 and 20-pound bags to a customer so they'll go around to everybody."

His normal supply, he added, is 1000 to 1500 pounds a week. He is supplied by a local distributor and has been receiving "old" Pennsylvania and "new" Florida spuds chiefly.

RESTAURANT OWNERS surveyed agreed their cooks have not had to do without the starched vegetable, but the restaurateurs have felt the shortage in their cash registers.

They claimed unanimously that the price of a 100-pound bag of potatoes has risen between $3 and $5 in the past month.

George Xanthopoulos, of the Crystal restaurant, said he pays $6 a bag for Pennsylvania potatoes, "but I hear some fellows have to pay $9 and $10."

Mrs. Marion Wentzel, of the Howard Johnson restaurant, said, "We're paying $9.50 for Fancy Maine potatoes, which have no ceiling price. There's a ceiling on all the other kinds."

She later added, "I don't think it's as critical here as in Philadelphia." Mrs. Wentzel, president of the Pottstown and Suburban Restaurant association, said member restaurateurs had not, as in other communities, been asked to serve potato substitutes until the shortage ends.

Theodore Plastiras, manager of Brown's grille, 129 High street, said he has not run short of potatoes, but "I've had to pay as high as $7 for a 100-pound bag."

He said he was willing to pay more "for the customers' sake, but we haven't raised any prices yet." He also said he has used no potato substitutes.

Two men were arrested on a drunk and disorderly conduct charge in front of a candy store at 23 South Hanover street at 3:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Motor Patrolman Earl J. Rhoads.

Neither was in a condition to give his name when placed in a cell at borough hall. Five hours later, however, one of the men who complained of an injured finger and was taken to Pottstown hospital for treatment, said he was Louis Forcine, 33, of the Ten to Six hotel, Phoenixville.

He told a nurse he had caught his finger in the door of the truck he had been driving. Police found a motor vehicle registration card issued to a James F. Fright, of Broomall, in his possession.

The men will be given a hearing soon.

NATIONAL

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP) — The Chicago Cubs, beaten eight straight times by the New York Giants, turned on Leo Durocher's pennant winners this afternoon to take both ends of a doubleheader, 3-2 and 6-4, before a crowd of 11,350.

Bob Rush pitched the opener for the Cubs, allowing only five hits, one of them a homer by Don Mueller to post his fourth win of the year.

Dave Koso started for the Giants, but was lifted for a pinch-hitter in the fifth after giving the Cubs all of their three runs and eight of their 12 hits. The 31-year-old southpaw was charged with his second defeat.

In the nightcap, 24-year-old Johnny Klippstein, yielding six hits, chalked up his third win. A two-run homer by Hank Sauer and a three-run clout by Frank Baumholtz gave Klippstein all the cushion he needed.

Mounts Win; St. John Blanks Merchants, 2-0

SUBURBAN LEADERS DEFEAT SWAMP, 4-0; STILL UNBEATEN

Spring Mount held fast to its unbeaten string and Pottstown Suburban league lead last night by blanking Swamp, 4-0, while Ringing Hill and Graterford stayed hot on the trail of other victors.

The Cubs took Gilbertsville into camp, 6-3, at Ringing Hill, and host Graterford jolted Royersford, 13-5. In other action Linfield posted its first win, a 10-3 decision over lowly Sanatoga.

The Mounts' Erb notched his second pitching win by scattering five hits and striking out six Swamps over the seven-inning route. His team got singletons for him in the first, third, fifth and sixth innings to tag Gerry Flicker with the loss, his first.

Flicker gave up only five hits, but three errors and six walks had him in constant trouble. Spring Mount's Ken Nace and Merrill Hook of Swamp were the leading hitters with two blows each.

Snead Stretches Lead In Wykagyl Golf Test

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y. May 16 (AP)—The new Sam Snead, loose and bold as a burglar, made a farce of the $15,000 Wykagyl Round-Robin Golf tournament today when he forged two more brilliant sub-par rounds to push 30 points ahead of the field.

With two more rounds tomorrow and Sunday, the only way the PGA champion conceivably could lose this title now would be to fall off the first tee and fracture a limb.

When today's involved bookkeeping was completed, the power-hitting West Virginian had a total of 53 plus-points, compared with 23 for the neighboring pro, Claude Harmon, whose flaming putter cooled on the afternoon round.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, the butterball from Lamont, Ill., followed with plus 20, and then came Dr. Cary Middlecoff and Jim Ferrier, tied at plus 17. The rest of the field of 16 was strung out in arrears—hopelessly beaten—all the way back to crippled Jack Burke, Jr., the Winter tour sensation, last at minus 32.

Award Time for Dodger Star

Honored for his selection as the National league's "most valuable" player in 1951, Roy Campanella, Dodgers' catcher, beams happily after being presented the plaque he is holding in Flatbush.

Blue Man "Dangerous" in Field of Ten

Sub Fleet Probable Preakness Choice

BALTIMORE, May 16 (AP)—Old Pimlico's entry box slammed shut today on names of 10 horses for the 76th Preakness stakes, and the fancy steppers may have to negotiate an "off" track because of the weather.

Headed by Sub Fleet, the probable favorite, and the dangerous Blue Man, the lineup is just as it shaped up Wednesday. With ten starters, largest field since 1947, the gross purse would hit $113,270, fourth largest for the race inaugurated in 1873.

Ursinus Hurdler Places in MAC

BETHLEHEM, May 16 (AP)—La Salle college fulfilled its pre-tournament rating as favorite today by sending 12 men into the finals of the track event, of the Middle Atlantic college track and field championship at Lehigh university.

Only track events were handled today.

The summaries:

120-yd. high hurdles—1. Charles Peoples, LaSalle, :15.5; 2. Richard Eshbach, Ursinus, :15.8 sec; 3. Frederick Tabbutt, Haverford, :15.9.

100-yd. dash—1. Albert Heck, Johns Hopkins, :10.2; 2. Carl Kumm, Haverford, :10.3 sec; 3. John Maden, LaSalle, :10.4.

220-yd. dash—1. Clyde Royster, Lehigh, :22.4; 2. Edwin Fager, Lafayette, :22.5; 3. Charles Stewart, Bucknell, :22.6 (tie).

580-yd. run—1. Charles Harmon, LaSalle, 2:00.8; 2. Frederick Geiter, LaSalle, 2:02.2; 3. William Reybold, University of Delaware, 2:02.7.

440-yd. run—7. Joseph Fricker, LaSalle, :51.6; 2. John Manning, LaSalle, :52.0; 3. Richard Martin, Johns Hopkins, :52.9 sec.

220-yd. low hurdles—1. Kenneth Washington, Dickinson, :25.9; 2. Robert Pettit, St. Joseph's and Richard Eshbach, Ursinus, :26.1 (tie).

Graham Battles To a Deadlock With Castellani

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Rocky Castellani of Luzerne, Pa., and Irish Billy Graham of New York's East Side fought a bristling 10-round draw tonight as boxing returned to Madison Square Garden after a two month absence.

Graham weighed 147½, Castellani 155.

It was very close with one judge voting Castellani, one tagging Graham and referee Ruby Goldstein calling it even in rounds and points.

Judge Frank Forbes' ballot for Graham 5-3-1 was greeted by boos from the crowd of 5394 that paid $18.385. Judge Art Aidala saw the kid from the coal town a 5-4-1 winner and Goldstein called it 4-4-2 with six points for each. The A. P. card agreed with Goldstein.

There were no knockdowns in this match between welterweight Graham who just missed winning his division title from Kid Gavilan last August, and the improving young middleweight, Graham wound up with a gash over both eyes and there was a mark over Rocky's left eye from the first round.

Hill Teams Move on Lawrenceville

All roads for the Hill school's athletic teams lead to Lawrenceville this afternoon, except for the trackmen, who stay put on the local ground to meet the invading Crimsons.

But the baseball and golf teams will be returning the past week's visit by the favorite foe, and the tennis squad will be journeying to New Jersey for its only meeting of the year with the Laurentians.

Lawrenceville pounded out an 8-2 win over the Blues last week with Carl Heppenstahl besting Ben Brown. It'll be the same two at it again this afternoon, with one difference. Now, the men of Perry Bowden know they can win a ball game—a trick they learned against Girard college's hapless nine, Thursday, 4-2.

Gerry Foulke will fill in at short for Brown. The Hill's team log now stands a 1-7, but a split in the series with the much stronger Kiner will not go to Johns Hopkins hospital and will not undergo operation unless he fails to respond to treatment by Dr. Sidney Gaynor, New York Yankee club physician. Dr. Gaynor twice cured Kiner of the same complaint.

Jerseys would do much to patch up the record.

Unbeaten Blue tracksters put a 3-0 log on the line at home today, vying with the visiting arch-rivals in what looms to be the hosts' toughest test of the season.

A victory this afternoon would mean an unstained ledger for the Hill.

Dick Clary and his mates of the links will be out after a repeat win to match up with the past weekend's 5-2 win over Lawrenceville, today.

The golfers now show a 4-1 log, and have copped their last three in a row. They will be defending the "Crooked Stick" today. The trophy annually goes to the team scoring the most points in the two matches.

Frank Bender's netters will be all fired up to put themselves right again today, after losing to the Penn Freshmen Wednesday, 8-1.

The Laurentians seem likely victims, though any Crimson team is a tough one, when they're matched with the Hill. The Blues show a 6-1 record going into today's scramble.

The tennis and golf squads finish out their season next Saturday, while the baseball team is through after a mid-week brawl with West-town school.

Kiner Injured, Out Five Days

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Ralph Kiner, National League home run king, probably will be out of the Pittsburgh Pirate lineup for about five days with a back ailment.

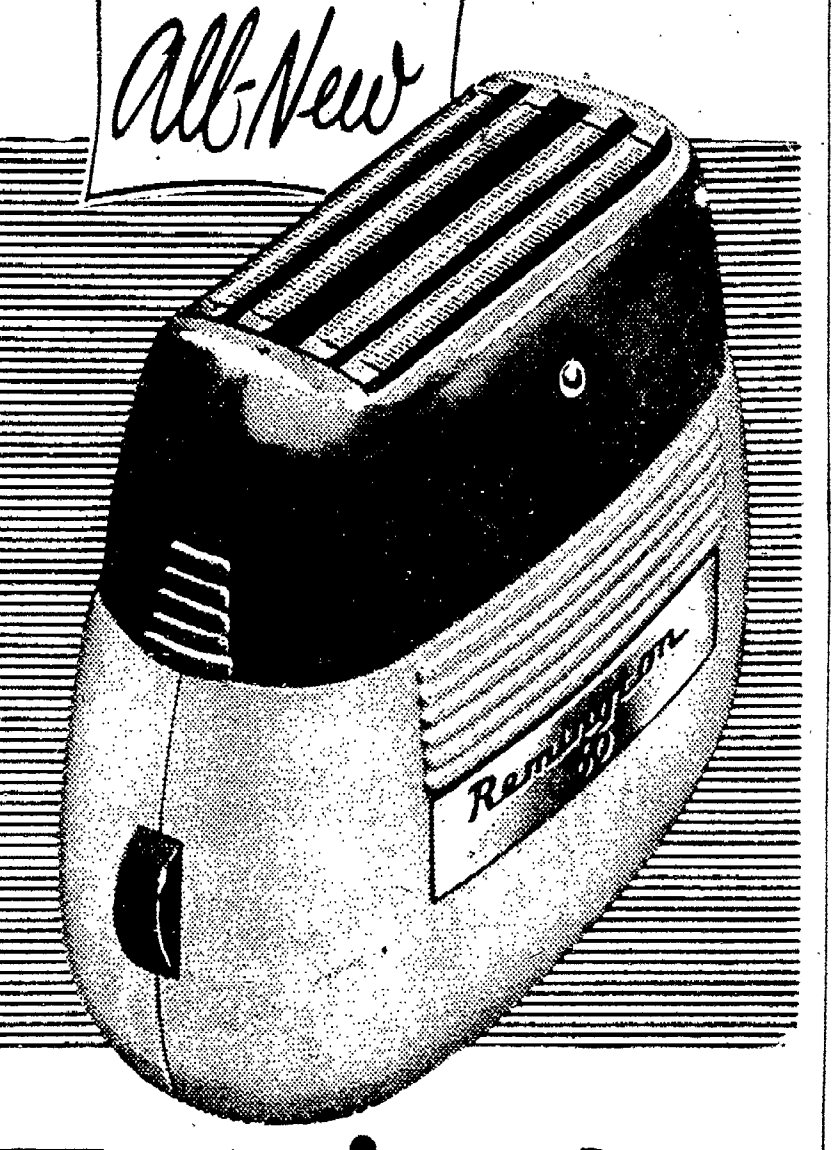

Kiner, batting a weak .215, remained at his hotel for a medical examination today when the Pirates left for a game at Brooklyn. He had been bothered by a pulled muscle in his back for almost two weeks, according to Manager Bill Meyer.

The Pittsburgh club insisted lineup with a pulled muscle in his back.

It was the first victory of the season for the blond right-hander whose five wins in the final month almost saved the pennant for the Dodgers last fall. Taking over in the third, Labine allowed only three hits the rest of the way and struck out five batters while walking three.

Carl Erskine, Brooks starter, was knocked out in the second and the Pirates scored four runs before reliever Joe Black could return the side.

Black left for a pinchhitter in the home second when the Dodgers tied the score while chasing Bob Friend.

Duke Snider broke the tie in the fifth with his third homer over the right-field screen. The Brooks added another run in the seventh.

Phil's Win in Ten

Philadelphia, May 16 (AP)—Gran Hamner singled with the bases loaded in the tenth inning tonight to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-2 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Winner Ken Heintzelman helped his own cause along in the final frame by bunting and making first safely on a fielder's choice. The victory was number four in a row for the surging Phillies.

Although Heintzelman received credit for his first win of the year after entering the game in the eighth inning, it was Carl Drews who started and performed the Philadelphia mound chores for the first seven. Drews allowed only three Cincinnati hits in that stint before giving way to a pinchhitter, Eddie Waitkus, first man up in the tenth, drew a base on balls. Heintzelman put down a bunt and when Ted Kuszewski tried for a force out at second, his throw to Roy McMillan was wide and late.

Ashburn then dropped a bunt along the third base line which rolled inside 25 feet and remained inches inside the foul line for a single filling the bases. When Gran Hamner got his first hit of the evening, a line single into center, Waitkus scored with the winning run.

BOSTON, May 16 (AP)—The Boston Braves teed off against Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell in lusty fashion in the second inning tonight to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-3. The Tribesmen supported lefty Warren Spahn with a nine-hit attack against three Cardinal hurlers.

The Tribesmen's largest home crowd of 7,498, saw them clinch their third straight triumph by blasting rookie Mizell for five runs in the second.

Browns Nip Bosox

ST. LOUIS, May 16 (AP)—Bob Nieman supplied the power while pitchers Earl Harrist and Stachel Paige held Boston to two hits in 10 innings to give the St. Louis Browns a 2 to 1 triumph over the Red Sox tonight.

Nieman tied the count in the eighth with a home run, the third St. Louis hit off Boston's Mickey McDermott.

McDermott walked his seventh man of the night, Bobby Young, to open the tenth. Young advanced on Marty Marion's sacrifice and Ellis Kinder took over for McDermott.

Jaycees to End Clean-up Week With Park Job

"Memorial Park Day" will climax the "clean-up, paint-up, fix-up" week on May 31, when the Pottstown Junior Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of other local groups will work together in making the Memorial Park area more beautiful and more sanitary.

Chairman of the campaign, Richard D. Eschbach, said that Charles I. Stout company and Sidney Pollock company, excavating firms, will assist with their equipment and men in dredging the Manatawny creek and landscaping the area bordering the creek and in the park.

In conjunction with the borough manager's office, the scouts of Pottstown's Troop 4, almost all members of the Jaycees, and workers of the Memorial Park association will aid the excavation companies in the work.

After the creek is dredged, the area will be sprayed for mosquitos. When work is completed, the Jaycees and borough officials will inspect the area thoroughly.

SATURDAY, May 31, will be the final day of the campaign which will begin on Monday, May 26. Program for the week will be as follows:

Monday: Safety and fire prevention day; Tuesday: Jaycees will conduct health and sanitation day; Wednesday: Local stores will aid Jaycees in their paint and repair day plans.

Thursday the "eyesore" committee will expedite the cleaning of empty lots and yards.

There will be no program on Friday due to the Memorial Day holiday.

off." Funk said, because he had arranged for the Mrs. Smith's Pie company in Pottstown to haul apples if purchased from him to its plant instead of Faust and Voverick doing so.

REASON FOR the change in the transporters of the fruit, Funk said, was that the cost of his drivers hauling the apples had increased too much.

Funk said he did not know why the employees, who work in his apple slicing plant, were striking. He claimed none of the strikers have told him what they want.

Faust said last night, however, that Ardaleon told the strikers he had telephoned Funk and asked him to see him, but Funk had refused, and drivers like the prestige of Funk reportedly said he did not want to have anything to do with the union.

Ardaleon told the strikers a proposed contract will be drawn for them by CIO officials in Philadelphia. Faust said he could not disclose the demands to be made by Local 1711, to which the workers now belong, but did say they dealt both with pay and working conditions.

The strikers, according to Faust, had made application for membership in the union about two weeks before the strike began. They will picket both the slicing and freezing plants of the huge farm, he said.

E. J. Kinney, district engineer of the State Highway department, Ardmore, yesterday reported work on the widening of Route 100 from Eagle to Pughtown would be completed this Summer.

He said the State plans to complete the widening project from Pughtown to Pottstown next Summer.

Two feet will be added to each side of the 18-foot highway. Next year the entire highway will be coated with asphalt.

Kinney said work on the Schuylkill river bridge for relocated Route 100 would not begin until "at least" the Summer of 1953.

He knew nothing of plans by the State to repair and improve State street.

right into her car."

The accident happened at 4:05 o'clock and was reported to police at borough hall by Mrs. Snapp.

SEVERAL HOURS labor with a towing apparatus and $1000 damage were the results of an accident yesterday morning when a tractor trailer ran off Route 113 in Trappe.

The accident occurred when Francis Jaggers, Philadelphia driver of the truck containing cardboard containers, ran off the shoulder of the road to avoid hitting a row of flags placed in the center of the highway by a line-stripping crew.

When the heavy truck, headed north on 113, ran onto the shoulder, it sagged in the soft ground and was pulled into a bank.

The right front fender, hood and right front and right rear of the trailer were damaged.

John B. Lutz, of the Jeffersonville State police, estimated damage to the 1945 truck at $1000.

A 24-YEAR-OLD Philadelphia truck driver, Francis Jaggers, escaped without injury yesterday morning when his tractor-trailer ran into a ditch on Route 113, near Trappe.

Jaggers was driving north on Route 113, State police of the Jeffersonville substation reported, when his truck plunged into the ditch.

Police estimated the damage to the vehicle at $1000.

A 60-pound dog suffered fractures of all four legs yesterday morning when it was struck by a hit-run driver on the Lewis road, about one mile south of Route 422, in Limerick township.

Deputy Game Protector Richard E. Blair, 78 Warren street, was notified of the mishap by three different callers at 7:30 o'clock. He was forced to kill the animal.

After cleaning the carcass, he turned the meat over to the Montgomery county home.

Knights to March To Trinity Church

Members of Pottstown's Nativity Commandery 71, Knights Templar, will march in a body to Trinity Reformed church Thursday night at 8 o'clock to attend the annual Ascension Day service.

Eminent Commander Wayne J. Leister has requested members to meet at Masonic Temple at 7:45 p. m., with or without uniforms, so that the organization can proceed in a body to the church.

The Rev. John B. Frantz, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will deliver a sermon on the topic, "The Triumphant Master of Life."

The choir will sing several anthems under the direction of Mrs. Norman G. Lepper, minister of music.

Ladies' auxiliary members have been invited to attend the service, which is held each year at the church of the eminent commander.

and New York city officials of the firm.

McCaslin, who suggested the general idea of a banner, explained that he intended to raise the $350 for the banner from local merchants but that no actual collection has been made yet.

The 76-foot-wide banner said "Pottstown Bicentennial" and below this, "1752-1952." McCaslin said he thought the trouble spot was at a corner of the projecting part of the flag that bore the dates.

Restorations were Lewis M. Parker, Birdsboro RD 1; James G. Kurlas, Pottstown RD 1; Edward Quigley, 562 State street; James Burkhardt, Elverson RD 2; Chayne S. Schweitzer, Birdsboro RD 1; and Samuel Stuart, Douglassville RD 1.

Campfire Fun Set For Scouts Tonight

Boy Scouts of the Frontier district will be hosts to parents and friends tonight when they sing songs, perform stunts and hold ceremonies at a campfire celebration at the Horace Smith farm near Birchrunville.

The campfire program is part of a weekend camporee being held by the scouts.

The scouts hiked three miles with fully loaded packs today after decoding directions given to them by their leaders which would lead them to the rendezvous.

Tomorrow at 1.45 p. m. patrols participating in the event will receive awards.

Church service will be held tomorrow also for Protestants at the camp site and for Catholics at a mass in Phoenixville.

"Strike tents" will be the final phase of the camporee when each patrol's area must be cleaned up as well as it had been when the scouts arrived.

Balsam Apple Is Useful to Form Screen

Vines can be useful as well as ornamental. Often a quick-growing annual vine is needed as a temporary screen or to pinch-hit for a slower growing perennial vine which has been killed back by severe winter weather.

A good screening vine is the one which produces the balsam apple, illustrated in the accompanying graph. Its botanical name is Momordica Balsamina. It is an annual and quickly grows to a height of 4 to 6 feet. It prefers a light, rich soil.

The vine known as Dutchman's Pipe is one of the best for use as a porch screen. This because its large, handsome leaves overlap one another. Its unique blooms are in the shape of an old-fashioned pipe, as illustrated. The flowers are a yellowish-brown in color.

This vine has other good points to recommend it. It is resistant to fungus disease and insects. It can be grown in sun or shade, and will even thrive in the midst of city smoke and dirt. It often grows to a height of 30 feet.

BECAUSE OF its vigorous growth, Dutchman's Pipe needs a lot of extra nourishment. The fertilizer should be added to the soil at the time of planting the vine or during its Summer growth.

Agriculture Meeting Held By Co. Group

A meeting of the executive board of the Montgomery County Agricultural Extension association was held in the Grange hall at Trappe. In the absence of the president, Walter Lutz, of Barto, vice president of the organization, presided.

The county agent announced a sheep shearing school to be held at the Hatfield fair grounds today. While candidates have been selected to do the shearing, the general public is welcome to attend and observe the shearing methods as demonstrated by the specialists.

The assistant county agent, James F. Haldeman, reported two new 4-H clubs recently organized in the county, the Upper Dublin 4-H club with 25 members and under the leadership of Harry Wentz, and the Pleasant Valley 4-H club with ten members and H. Hayes, local leader. There are now eight agricultural 4-H clubs in the county with a membership of 180 boys and girls.

Plans have been made with the Pomona Grange Agricultural committee to hold a joint agriculture and home economics 4-H club round-up at Hallman's grove, Aug. 30. 4-H boys and girls enrolled in dairy calves, flowers, vegetables and home economics projects will attend and exhibit their projects to be judged.

HALDEMAN ALSO announced that all baby beef club members had been visited by the local leader, Walter Stearly, of Trappe, and by Charles Burge, livestock specialist of Pennsylvania State college. During these visits the members were scored for management of their project.

Eighteen 4-H pig club members weighed in their pigs May 10 for their 1952 pig project, with a total of 51 pigs.

Less Corn Put Under Program

Pennsylvania farmers, like others throughout the nation, are putting less corn under the price-support program this year, says Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the State Production and Marketing Administration committee.

Through March, about 158,863 bushels of the 1951 crop had been put under the program. As of the same date the past year, about 42,315 bushels of 1950-crop corn was under support.

Dairy Show Queen

Cheese without any undressing is something of a novelty in pictures. But at Pennsylvania State college, the 27th annual dairy show is quite a serious occasion. Hence, coed Ida Anne Wylie, of Summit Hill, Pa., queen of the event, appears in routine campus garb as she participates in the cheese-cutting ceremony.

Cabled Trees Need Attention in Cities

Cabled trees growing in cities and industrial areas need more attention than their country cousins. That's because heavy soot layers shorten the life of galvanized steel cables.

Not only do cables deteriorate under adverse atmospheric conditions, but trees outgrow them. Cable placement is something of an art and a science, says J. C. Bouvy, area representative of a tree expert company. So it's a good idea to have a professional tree man check up on the old supports at least every three or four years.

Such rapidly growing trees as willow and silver maple need careful cable checks for reinforcement needs.

Poultry Federation Will Hold Meeting, Field Day in June

Poultrymen of Montgomery county who attend the Pennsylvania State Poultry federation annual meeting and field day, June 18 and 19, at Pennsylvania State college, will have a choice of activities on an unusually full program, reports County Agent R. G. Waltz.

The two-day event, held in cooperation with the poultry department of the college, opens Wednesday morning, June 18, with general sessions morning and afternoon. These conclude at 3:30 o'clock.

At 3:35 p. m. the convention will break up into three sectional meetings, one devoted to market egg production, one for broiler growers, and another for turkey growers.

A banquet at 6:30 and dance and special entertainment, 9 to 12, conclude the day's program. The second day will be given over to a field day on the college's 100-acre poultry research farm.

FEDERATION members and guests, including whole families, will use the new Penn State west dormitories for lodging, and for all first day activities, except the banquet.

George M. Anthony, Strausstown, Berks county, Federation president, will preside. Growers, leaders in related industries, and educational authorities from the Penn State faculty and other colleges and universities will be speakers.

Dr. Lyman E. Jackson, dean of the School of Agriculture, will report on the animal pathology research laboratory to be established at the college with funds voted by the 1951 legislature.

Ruined by Water's Might

Water-swollen U. S. Government corn bin lies spewed out in mud after bursting storage bins at Whiting, Iowa, during the Missouri River flood.

If part of the straw mulch is left, quality of the berries will be improved. The straw mulch will help to conserve moisture and also will help to keep the berries clean, says Carl Bittner, Penn State extension fruit specialist. The

Wool Program Uses Loans

Details of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's 1952 shorn wool price-support program, which for the first time employs the loan method instead of purchases, were announced today by Clyde A. Zehner, chairman, Pennsylvania Production and Marketing Administration committee.

As in the past, the 1952 program will operate through regular trade channels, with producers obtaining Commodity Credit corporation loans through authorized handlers.

Generally, no change in producers' marketing patterns will be necessary, and the traditional heavy proportion of the nation's wool production will be handled through such important northeast wool trading centers as Boston, New York and Philadelphia.

Shorn wool prices will be supported at a national average of 54.2 cents per pound, grease basis, which reflects 90 percent of the farm parity price as specified in the Agricultural act of 1949. Loan rates by grades have been established on a Boston basis, with transportation costs to Boston to be deducted in determining the rate to individual producers.

Spring Plowing Gets Good Start in State

HARRISBURG, May 16 (AP)—Pennsylvania farmers, aided by favorable weather conditions, have been making good way with Spring plowing and planting chores.

A Federal State survey made public this week showed that plowing for Spring planting was 68 percent completed by May 1.

Spring sowing and planting also was well underway with reports showing crops 46 percent planted. This was five percent ahead of planting schedules for the past year.

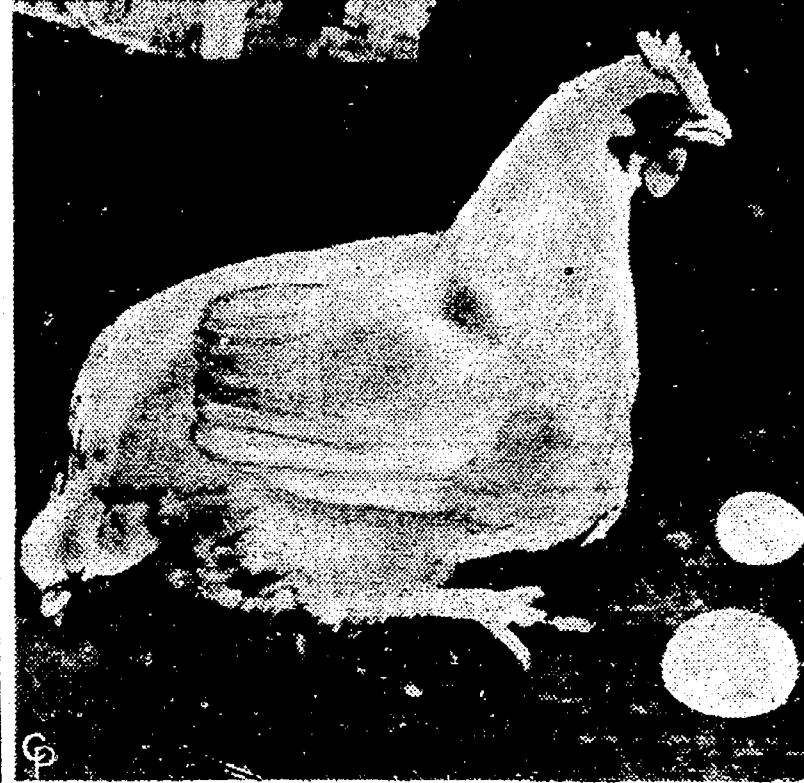

Pasture conditions also were reported better than usual for May with estimates showing them 89 percent of normal. This was three percent better than they appeared a year ago at this time.

ALSO ON the bright side, was appearance of hay crops which were estimated at 90 percent of normal, or 2 percent better than a year ago.

Less favorable were the outlooks for Winter wheat and rye crops. The State Agriculture department said the May 1 forecast for Winter wheat was a 1952 crop of 18,168,000 bushels compared with 18,632,000 the past year. The rye crop will average about 21.5 bushels per acre, according to forecasts, which is about one bushel less than in 1951.

Rye is estimated at 170,000 bush-

In Scramble for Egg Honors

A big operator in the old shell game, hen belonging to John Bello, of Niles, Ohio, appears to be resting on her laurels after laying the one-half pound egg that dwarfs the average one beside it. Measuring eight inches in circumference, it is four times larger than average egg.

Leaf Miners Cause Blotches

Boxwood leaf miners, small maggot-like creatures, have been found feeding within the leaves of boxwoods in Pottstown. The damage caused by these insects is reported to be serious in some sections recently was termed "light."

Reports of heavy fruit bloom has come from all sections of the State. Damage from freezing temperatures in some sections recently was termed "light."

On the field crop front, planting of field corn is reported progressing rapidly in southern and central counties. Some early potatoes are up in all areas. Much wheat in the Southeast is reported knee-high and some barley is forming heads.

Pennsylvania farmers have indicated intentions to make slight reductions this year in corn, soybean, potato and tobacco crops. The Agriculture department has said however that high yields could well offset expected acreage reductions.

16th Farmer Begins Plan of Conservation

Developing a conservation farm plan on his farm for four years seems to indicate that John K. Greenwood has decided that conservation farming is the way to farm.

Greenwood, who lives on the road between Northbrook and Unionville, was the 16th farmer in Chester county to contact the Soil Conservation service for aid in trying to conserve the soil on his farm. Since that time, 1060 farmers have now signed up with the district to have technicians from the Soil Conservation service help them in the development of conservation plans for their farms.

Even though Greenwood still has some drainage problems, he has already established 62 acres of strip cropping, 10 acres of improved pasture, 950 feet of diversion terrace, 1200 feet of sod waterways and 20 rods of new permanent fences.

First Grassland Day Is Scheduled May 21

First of a series of five district Grassland Field Days will be held the other locations, except for Wednesday, May 21, on Wernersville State College where the field day will be held at the State College farm, five miles west of Reading, reminds County Sixth International Grassland Congress.

This field day will embrace 14 counties in southeastern Pennsylvania, including Montgomery, Berks, Lehigh, and Northampton counties in other field day districts who will be unable to take in their own event, are planning to attend. Out-of-State visitors will include delegations from Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey.

The other four field days: May 28, Torrrence State hospital farm, Blairsville; June 3, Sordoni Sterling Farms, Harveys lake; June 6, Crawford County Home farm, Meadville; August 20, the Pennsylvania State College farms, State College.

Each field day has been timed with a view to having the desired stage of grass and legume growth at each. This accounts for the early date in southeastern Pennsylvania.

New Trend Is Set For Street Trees

Modern home architecture, featuring one-story ranch types and bungalows, is setting a new trend in street trees. The one-story house no longer requires a three-story tree.

For new and future communities, street trees will be smaller and cheaper to maintain than the towering elms and maples of the past. Such trees will help city and town planning boards create better and more orderly communities.

13 Directors Elected By Doehler-Jarvis At Annual Meeting

Thirteen directors of the Doehler-Jarvis corporation were elected at the annual meeting of the shareholders in Grand Rapids, Mich., yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. The meeting was in Grand Rapids because Doehler's, with one of its largest plants in Pottstown, is a Michigan corporation. Re-elected to the board were: Lemuel R. Boulware, who also is vice president of the General Electric company; Arthur P. Caldwell Jr., vice president of the Chemical Bank and Trust company, New York; Paul H. Davis, partner, Paul H. Davis and company, member of the New York stock exchange; Herman H. Doehler, honorary chairman of the Doehler-Jarvis board. Also, James Gerity Jr., president, Gerity-Michigan corporation, Lewis A. Jarvis, chairman of the Doehler-Jarvis board; Frank J. Koegler, president, Doehler-Jarvis corporation; Joseph A. Martino, president, National Lead company; Harold A. Nehrbas partner, Parrish and company, member of the New York Stock Exchange.

ALSO, JANSEN Noyes, partner, Humphill, Noyes, Graham, Parsons and company, member of the stock exchange; Charles Pack, vice president of Doehler's; Arthur W. Wakeley, partner, Paul H. Davis and company, member of the stock exchange, and Ernest R. Zabriskie, vice president, Doehler's.

Directors will meet Wednesday in the Toledo offices to elect officers.

of the site in drawing his plans, he said, and cannot do so until he surveys the site. The lack of a site also is obstructing financing of the school's construction. A joint board-created Authority cannot issue bonds for the financing until it knows the estimated cost of the construction, which hinges on the type of site finally selected. An incomplete sketch of the school which Hughes showed the directors and some of the Authority members recently contained the ten classrooms and all-purpose room the State Department of Public Instruction has directed the school must have.

Dr. A. M. Kulp, county superintendent of schools, said last night some members of the Joint board are considering the addition of a couple of classrooms. These rooms would be included in anticipation of increased enrollment within a few years.

Tentative cost of the building has been estimated at $250,000. The Joint board will lease the school from the Authority. Its rent eventually will amortize the bonds to be issued and the school then will be the property of the Joint board.

The committee that will begin the negotiations for the site will report to the board at 8 p. m. May 28 in the Church school, Obelisk. The committee comprises Stanley Kircher, of Upper Frederick, Merrill H. Erb, of New Hanover, Eugene Seasholtz, of Fagleyville, and I. W. Heintz Sr., of Swamp.

MISSING BROTHER —

Pottstown man, who is employed at the Merchant's hotel, 70 High street. The letter said in part: "As I am retiring from Government service after 33 years service as a customs officer the end of August this year, and am definitely going to settle in Pottstown, I am very much interested in gathering the remainder of the old Amole family together."

"I WOULD LIKE to know if you are my brother or son of my brother."

"After wandering around in the tropics for years . . . and losing all contact with my family, I am very anxious to contact any remaining members of the family."

"It is my intention to buy a home in Pottstown and perhaps a little business. I'll sail from here . . . on Sept. 5 with my family, consisting of my wife, daughter and five grandchildren ranging in ages from 10 to 6 years."

"If you are my brother George, I wish you would let me know by air mail as I have many things to tell you about and many questions to ask you."

"Trusting that I may receive an early reply, I will anxiously await your reply. In the meantime I will remain, Very Truly Yours, Allan Amole."

The Pottstown man's wife said the long-missing brother would, indeed, receive an early reply.

Nomination Move Seen Next Week

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Majority Leader McFarland advised the Senate today he hoped to take up the nomination of Judge James P. McGranery to be Attorney General next Tuesday or Wednesday—"preferably on Tuesday."

The Senate Judiciary committee has recommended confirmation of the Philadelphia jurist's nomination by an 8 to 4 vote.

MERCURY WRITERS —

cury staff photo gained honorable mention in its classification. First prize in the spot news classification, which had 105 entries, was won by Fred C. Selby Jr., Mercury staff writer, for his on-the-scene story of Gerald C. Wentzel's stepping to freedom through the gates of Eastern penitentiary in Philadelphia.

The story emphasized the little human reactions of Wentzel and his wife, who had stood by him during his 4-year fight for freedom after being convicted for the 1946 murder of Mrs. Miriam F. Green.

SECOND PRIZE for editorials was won by Shandy Hill, general manager of The Mercury, for a pre-election editorial that explained, in plain language, the complicated questions involved in the referendum on a proposed $450,000 bond issue to build new streets.

The editorial said in part: "Voters are asked to consider the issue dispassionately. 'There's nothing tricky about it. Politics has nothing to do with it. It's merely a question of whether you want to vote for good streets—something Pottstown has been yelping about for years.'"

Edward B. Rosenberg, Mercury news editor, won honorable mention in the human-interest classification with a story on the enormous hoard of pennies that a Gilbertsville man turned in at a Pottstown bank.

JOE MUCH, Mercury sports editor, won honorable mention in the local-column classification for a "Sports Slants" column of reflections on a Spring City-Boyer town high school football game.

Robert E. Hoyer, Mercury staff writer, won honorable mention in the classification for news stories in the field of women's activities, writing under the headline: "Gals Get Men, Leap Year or Not."

With its collection of awards, The Mercury noted out the Johnstown Democrat, which like The Mercury, had placed among the top newspapers during each of the annual contests.

The past year, The Mercury finished close to the top, getting eight awards, including the first prize in the public service classification won by Frank J. Dostal, staff writer.

The Johnstown Democrat won in the tenth division—for news pictures. In this division, Mercury Staff Photographer Eugene Orlando won honorable mention with a graphic photo of a car-truck accident on Route 83 in which a former Spring City athlete was killed.

AN ALUMNUS of The Mercury, Robert F. Zissa, now staff reporter for The York Dispatch, won honorable mention for a local government story, writing under the headline, "Civil Defense Dying from Public Apathy."

A former Mercury staff writer, Zissa left to complete his schooling. The judges termed contest entries "extremely difficult to judge because of the extensive amount of high caliber material presented."

On the judging committee were: Leroy V. Greene, publicity director, Pennsylvania Auditor General's office, chairman; Richard V. Wall, manager, public information bureau, Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce, and Martin Brackbill, Bureau of Publicity and Information, Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs.

The Mercury's ranking in the Better Writing contest was the latest in a series of distinctions gained by the newspaper in competition with much larger ones.

MAJOR ONES in recent years include: The 1950 Gold Medal award from the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the outstanding contribution by a daily newspaper to fire safety.

The "Big Story" award won by Hill the past Fall for his work in helping Wentzel gain his freedom from the jail term imposed after conviction for the murder of Mrs. Green.

The 1951 Public Interest award made this month by the National Safety Council to The Mercury for its campaign for a program of safety for churchgoers and for a series of interviews with Pottstown area residents who knew the tragedies of highway accidents from first-hand experience.

ALARM BOX —

clearing the two remaining major obstacles — getting permission from Philadelphia Electric company for the wire arrangement and the actual placing of the order with the Gamewell company.

Wagner and Snyder said they thought the order could be placed by the supervisors, working through the Pottstown borough manager's office, which has the specifications for such boxes.

Snyder said that it would probably take about two months for the box to arrive after it was ordered.

Most deals of getting the box were arranged for swiftly in January, as South Pottstown businessmen, firemen and officials joined in hailing the move. The delay apparently resulted from the fact that everybody thought somebody else was going to place the order.

Truman Asks Arms Funds, Says World Is Near Peace

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Truman declared tonight that "we're on the verge of success" in the drive for world peace and demanded that Congress provide the funds he considers necessary for America's armed forces in this drive.

Speaking off the cuff at a national Armed Forces Day dinner, the President accused men in and out of Congress of "playing petty politics" with defense appropriations and asserted that "in this cold war Congress must give what we ask."

He declared that talks of defense funds as a burden on the Nation and as a potential cause of "economic bankruptcy" is "poppycock."

The only people who have suffered hardships as the result of American efforts, Truman asserted emphatically, are the men in the Korean fight and their families back home.

REFERRING to the men in the field, men in the mud, men in the air and on the sea, Truman told his audience in a manner which clearly showed he was directing his remarks at Congress, "you years trying to secure peace and cause those men to get shot in the back."

The President spoke after Secretary of State Dean Acheson had declared that only a coalition of free nations led by the United States can prevent Russia from "engulfing the world."

Acheson's speech drew praise from the President, especially in its references to close collaboration between the State and Defense departments and its stress on American leadership which the president said this Nation has had to assume "whether we like it or not."

Truman recalled that a year ago he had told a similar audience that the world was in the midst of one of its greatest crises which had to be met by American leadership and he said "we've had our ups and downs but we've come a long way" since then.

"THE PATH of an aggressor will be much more difficult because of that," the President said, "and that means that the chances of a third world war are just that much less."

He has spent seven and a half

Meteoric Flight House Vote Nets Marines Equal Voice

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The House voted overwhelmingly today for a permanently strong U. S. Marine corps with a voice of its own, for the first time, in the nation's highest military council.

Brushing aside a protest that it would create a "private army" to be used anywhere on the globe at the President's whim, the chamber passed 253 to 32 a measure to:

1. Give the Leathernecks equal representation with the Army, Navy and Air Force on the U. S. Joint Chiefs of staff. At present they are represented by the Navy.
2. Set a permanent minimum strength of 220,000 enlisted men plus officers, with at least three full-strength combat divisions and three air wings.

THE LEGISLATION provides a limit of 400,000 men, plus officers. Officers usually run about 10 percent of enlisted personnel, which would bring the minimum up to 242,000 and the maximum to 440,000.

At present, the Marines have about 237,000 officers and men, with next year's projected total 243,000.

The bill passed over strong objections from Pentagon top brass and charges by Rep. Teague (D-Tex.), a much wounded infantry veteran of World War II, that it would "set up a private army for the President to use anywhere in the world."

The measure now goes back to the Senate which had previously voted for a ceiling of 400,000 enlisted men, but had fixed no minimums.

Freedom's Battle Is Global, Ike Says

LONDON, May 16 (AP)—General Eisenhower today described the free world's defense as a global battle in which Korea, Indochina and Malaya rank in importance with Western Europe.

The top soldier in the building of Western Europe's bulwarks asked the democracies to avoid taking a narrow geographic view of their struggle to protect themselves "against the threat of monolithic dictatorship."

He made the statement to newsmen at London airport at the end of a two-day farewell visit to Britain as supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe.

The struggle to preserve democracy, he said, involves spiritual and economic as well as military factors. More important "we have to find those common interests among ourselves that will hold us firmly together," he said. He did not mention Communism by name.

ON THIS SIDE of the Atlantic, American leaders often are classified as being either European-minded or Asian-minded. Eisenhower made it clear he believed in a broader view.

"We must not be parochial in the geographic sense," he said. "If we are in a struggle in which a free world and free systems are defending themselves against the threat of monolithic dictatorship, we are talking about a conflict of ideas. That means it is a global thing."

"Indochina, Malaya, Korea are not only directly and indirectly important to the business of preserving and building up resources in Europe, but they are just as much as any other section of the world a tactical basis of this great struggle in which we are engaged."

"What I should like to leave with you is a word of great confidence in the final outcome, subject only to the ability of free men to develop sufficient heart and soul to carry the job through."

"WE HAVE in the free world great total of productivity, of natural resources, of access to the raw materials of the world, scientific skill, intellectual capacity and leadership. All we have to do is find those common interests among ourselves that will hold us firmly together."

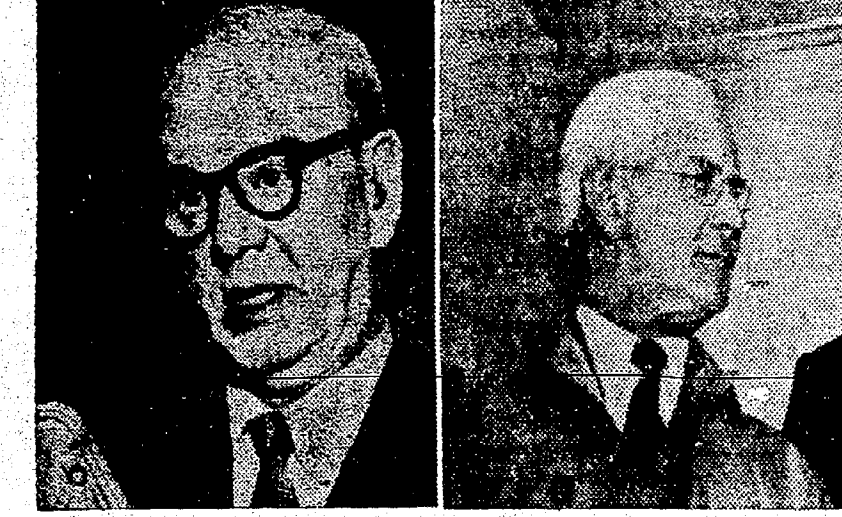

Eisenhower said the democracies should not focus their attention too closely just on tanks, guns, planes and ships. He described spiritual strength as "the first and most important" factor in preserving peace.

"The next thing is economic strength," he said.

MURRAY WARNS PARLEY Sawyer Prejudiced, Steel Workers Told

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP)—Steel workers President Philip Murray today accused Secretary of Commerce Sawyer, boss of the seized steel industry, of an "unthinkable degree of bias" in Federal handling of the steel dispute.

Murray did not immediately explain his remarks to the closing session of the steel workers convention, but he lit into Sawyer and told the union delegates that the commerce secretary is "no friend of yours."

Sawyer was not immediately available in Washington for comment.

Murray read a letter from Sawyer, which said that while workers generally had taken care during the recent three-day steel strike to preserve mill equipment and other facilities, that this "was not universal."

While Murray used the letter as the main basis for his sudden, unheralded attack on President Truman's cabinet member, it is generally known that Sawyer has been cool all along to the idea of Government seizure.

This Murray has expressed frequently in the past. It is also not a secret that Sawyer had been hesitant to give the steel workers a raise during the period of Government operation.

Murray said it is the fixed policy of the steel workers union in the event of a strike to close down mills and furnaces in an orderly manner to avoid damage. He said that any damage occurring during the recent strike was due to failure of the steel companies to make arrangements with the union for proper shutdown precautions.

"The implication here," Murray said, waving Sawyer's letter, "is designed to show that the steel workers will not protect property."

Oregon Voters Turn Out for Heavy Balloting

PORTLAND, Ore., May 16 (AP)—Oregon voters turned out in bright, warm weather today and may have set a record as they cast ballots in the presidential preference and scores of other primary election contests.

In Portland 25 to 30 percent of the registered voters had balloted by early afternoon. At Medford in the southern part of the state the total was 20 percent—heavier than usual—and at Salem, the capital, the turnout was 23 percent by noon. Most other cities reported moderately heavy to record voting.

This supported earlier predictions of a record total of more than 450,000. The previous high was 347,372 in 1948.

At some daylight saving time cities the early balloting was lighter than expected. The polls opened on standard time—after many had gone to work.

First scattered returns were not expected until 11 p. m. (EST) when the polls close. And counting will be slow because of the long ballot involving local and state offices.

THE VOTERS were drawn by the spirited Republican campaign in which Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, although not a candidate, figured in a clash for delegates with highly favored Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Fill-in speakers for Eisenhower sought all 18 GOP delegates to help narrow the pre-convention advantage presently held by Taft. The 12 Democratic delegates were certain to go to Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee by default.

Only three candidates campaigned themselves—and none was around for the outcome.

Republican Gov. Earl Warren of California, generally pegged for second spot in the GOP preferential vote, left last night. So did Kefauver, who planned to hear the returns in Washington.

Ex-Gov. Harold E. Stassen, who didn't show the fight of his losing knock-out battle with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in Oregon's 1948 GOP primary, headed back east today.

THE REPUBLICAN set to over convention votes centered on eight delegate-candidates who entered by petition—and thus without signing the pledge to stand by the winner of the preferential balloting.

Eisenhower's managers assumed that all eight favored Taft and endorsed a rival slate of 10 in hopes of preventing a split of the delegation. Only three of the eight declared themselves openly for Taft.

The Ohio senator, who stayed out of the two western primaries in Oregon and California (June 3), was expected to show in the polling through write-in votes. There was no official write-in campaign in his behalf, however.

The names of Gen. Douglas A. MacArthur and Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon were placed on the ballot by well-wishers. Both said they are not candidates. Oddly enough, Morse competed with Eisenhower in the presidential race, whether he liked it or not, while at the same time running as a pro-Ike delegate.

GALS AID IN PANTY RAID Students at Columbia Raid Girls' Quarters

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—More than 1000 prankish Columbia university students staged a panty raid on Barnard college early today and the girls got blamed for egging them on.

The raid was another in a series of Springtime revolts on America's college campuses. A similar raid was staged at the University of Miami and rioting broke out at all-male Harvard university.

Male college raiders have sought out coed lingerie previously at the universities of Florida, Nebraska, Iowa, Purdue, Denver and Otterbein college in Ohio.

About 300 Barnard college girls waved undies from their windows and tossed water-filled bags as Columbia males fought police and special guards on the Broadway and 116th street campus.

BARNARD'S DEAN, Millicent C. McIntosh, took her girls to task later for their "unexpectedly immature behavior."

She also put into words what many another educator has hinted at:

"The Columbia boys could not be dispersed by the police because of the continued encouragement given them by the (girl) students in the dormitories."

Barnard college is the girls' branch of Columbia and its dormitories are on Columbia's campus. Columbia began its own investigation of the raid, which lasted more than two hours. One policeman was hurt and one male student was given a disorderly conduct summons.

The young men jeered at the squad of some 80 police: "Gross will get you." Bookie Harry Gross has cost a number of New York cops their jobs by his testimony of protection payoffs.

POLICE SGT. Martin Rooney, of Emergency Squad No. 5, took a dim view of the light-hearted rioters. Said he:

"Our function is to save lives. While we're up here somebody might die because we were not there to handle an emergency."

In Miami, some 3000 male students raided girls' dormitories on the university's main campus as the coeds waved and beckoned them on. Fire hoses were used by police to quell the boisterous young men.

Indiana university tried to get the jump on any further panty rioting by setting out a barrel-full of discarded female undergarments and inviting male students to help themselves. Several hundred Indiana males staged a raid Monday night on a women's dormitory.

The Harvard riot at Cambridge, Mass., began during a street rally. Prankish students had gathered to boost for President, a comic strip opossum, Pogo, the creation of cartoonist Walt Kelly.

Hopes to Settle Oil-Pay Dispute Starting to Fade

DENVER, May 16 (AP)—Only small, isolated settlements were reached today as hopes for an immediate end to the Nation's oil strike began to fade.

Oil and gasoline shortages spread as the hoped-for back to work movement reached no more than a trickle. More commercial air flights were canceled, especially across the Atlantic.

The Government slightly eased one restriction. It authorized the use again of aviation gasoline for agricultural and forest protection purposes.

Delaying an end to the 16-day strike by 90,000 workers in 22 unions was a general disappointment over a Government lid on wage increases—the big issue—and a desire to haggle more closely over other, lesser details.

U. S. Envoy Fired On Sailor Penalized

TUNIS, Tunisia, May 16 (AP)—French troops, apparently suspecting evasion of the curfew, shot up the motor cars of U. S. Consul General John D. Jernegan and a member of the French governor General's staff in ancient Carthage early today.

No one was injured. But two sub-machinegun bullets pierced Jernegan's machine as he drove with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Horowitz, of Cleveland, O., toward his home at 1 a. m.

Theft Blame Placed

PUSAN, Korea, May 16 (AP)—South Korea's minister of home affairs charged today that "dishonest U. N. personnel" had a hand in the theft of more than 5 million dollars of U. S. military goods in Korea.

Chang Suk Yoon in a statement referred to a report earlier this month by the Senate Preparedness Subcommittee in Washington. The report said $5,114,420 worth of goods were stolen from Jan. 1, 1951, to Feb. 9 this year. Most goods reached the black market.

Crackdown Sought

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—A bill that would make influence peddling in tax matters criminal offense was introduced in the House today by Rep. King (D-Calif.).

King, chairman of the scandal-investigating Ways and Means subcommittee, said his bill is aimed at plugging loopholes in income tax laws and at stiffening tax enforcement.

King's subcommittee has been investigating the Internal Revenue bureau for more than a year.

Children Will Attend Communion Services

Seventy-five children at St. Aloysius Catholic church and 29 at St. Gabriel's Catholic church, Stowe, will receive the sacrament of Holy Communion at masses tomorrow morning.

The youngsters will march in procession to the churches before mass. Later in the day, they will participate in the annual May processions in honor of the Blessed Virgin Mary.

Clad in white dresses and toga, another Eighth grader, as veils and in white suits, the children of St. Aloysius church will march from the school to the church to receive Holy Communion at the 9 o'clock mass.

The Rev. William M. Begley, rector, announced the seats on the side aisles have been reserved for the parents of the children. The children who normally attend the mass each Sunday morning have been requested to attend the other masses during the morning.

The children of St. Gabriel's church will march in procession from the basement to the church just before the 8 o'clock mass, the Rev. Francis E. Suchanek, rector, said. They will repeat their baptismal promises and vows and will receive Holy Communion during the mass.

Hymns will be sung by the choir throughout the mass.

ALL THE girls receiving Communion will be dressed in white, with white veils, and will carry prayer books and rosaries. The boys will be dressed in blue suits with white ties, carnations and armbands.

Pauline Pietropoli, 421 South street, an Eighth grade pupil at St. Aloysius Parochial school, will serve as May Queen for the May procession at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. She will be attended by Patricia Cuttolo, Sana-

YOUR GEM STORY FOR TODAY

This coming Wednesday evening is the Bi-centennial Ball. At Sunnysbrook, you'll see the crowning of Queen Marty Lou Smale and you will also see her charming court of six beautiful girls.

We decided to find just what type of girls will represent our 200th anniversary celebration here in Pottstown. And about the only way we could gather this information was to find each girls Birthstone and see what significance was attributed to each gem. So here is what we found. Take it for what its worth.

Doris Seibold was born in February. Her birthstone is the Amethyst, gem of Peace. The beautiful purple gem has a deep religious significance for it typifies the supreme sacrifice of Christ.

Dolores Pioschak was born in May. Her Birthstone is the Emerald, gem of Immortality.

It is a gem that hath the power to show

If plighted lovers keep their troth or no,

If faithful, it is like the leaves of spring.

If faithless, like those leaves withering.

Darlene Donofrio and Queen Marty Lou Smale were born in June. Their Birthstone, the gem of beautiful women, is the only one of great beauty and value that comes from the sea. From Roman times, the Pearl has been prized by women of culture.

Arlene Shaeffer was born in August. The gem attributed to this month is Sardonyx, gem of courage. One of the oldest of all gems, its history extends back to 2000 B. C. It was said that the gem lent courage to orators and some of the famous Roman Orators wore at least six of them on their fingers.

Joan Keim and Claudia Ellicker were born in October and their birthstone is the unusual Opal, symbol of Hope and Purity. A famous Greek said, "It is made up of all the glories of the most precious gems and to describe it is a matter of inexpressible difficulty. Anthony gave One to Cleopatra, valued at $100,000. They both thought that it would prevent disease for the wearer.

Now we certainly aren't superstitious, and we don't want any of our readers to be, but it does seem significant that the Queen and her court possess birth dates that are symbolic of PEACE, IMMORALITY, BEAUTY, COURAGE, AND PURITY. It surely seems that these five requisites are synonymous with the principles and ideals of Pottstown, a borough just 200 years young. Pottstown people enjoy PEACE, they surely enjoy BEAUTY, its people have COURAGE, and Purity of Body and Mind may be enjoyed by everyone.

Local Ministers and Laymen To Attend Lutheran Convention

Twenty-three Pottstown area Lutheran laymen will attend the 4-day annual convention of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, United Lutheran Church in America, at Buck Hill Falls inn Monday.

More than 700 pastors and lay delegates from the Synod's 562 congregations will participate in the convention, which will be presided over by the Rev. Dr. Emil E. Fischer, of Philadelphia, president of the Ministerium of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Fischer is the father of the Rev. Theodore L. Fischer, pastor of Transfiguration Lutheran church, who will be among the local ministers present.

Special convention speakers include Chester A. Myrom, associate director of the Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship of the Lutheran church; the Rev. Dr. Paul C. Empie, executive director of the National Lutheran council; and Dr. William F. Zimmerman, professor at Midland college, Fremont, Neb.

THE LAY delegates from Pottstown will include Joseph H. Bur-

April Work Situation Remained Fluid, Job Bureau Here Says

Employment during April in the Pottstown area showed a continued fluctuation due to the diversified industries within the area, the Pottstown Employment office, of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service reported.

The monthly report, which is a review of current employment developments, stated that there was additional layoffs in foundries and knit goods manufacturers, while transportation and metal products industries were hiring.

Layoffs were the result of production catching up with order backlogs rather than shortage of materials used in the production, the report disclosed.

At present there are 941 applicants seeking work through the Pottstown P.S.E.S. office. Approximately 55 percent of this group are women, mostly those who have been employed previously in the knit good industries.

There is a demand for thoroughly experienced clerical workers, but employers are reluctant to lower their requirements, it was divulged.

Opportunities for domestic workers to obtain employment has been increased due to the seasonal demand which occurs every Spring.

Executive Asks Greater Output At Club Session

"A greater amount of goods and services must be produced per unit of time, floor space, material and efforts," H. Thomas Hallowell, president of Standard Pressed Steel, Philadelphia, said last night in his talk on "Increased Productivity" at the YMCA.

Hallowell was principal speaker at a "Stanley G. Flagg night" dinner meeting of the Executives' and Foremen's Club of Pottstown and vicinity at which 183 persons attended.

He said, "We must produce economically so that the purchaser, whether it be our country, our company or ourselves, can afford the purchase."

Last night's program was presided over by Francis Donohue, president of the club.

THE REV. George A. Lineker, rector of Christ Episcopal church, gave the invocation which was immediately followed by dinner.

There was a short musical interlude by the barber shop quartette and soloists June Edwards and Don Weller.

Miller C. Long, vice president of the club, introduced the guests and Edward Levensgood, second vice president, introduced the more than 20 new members accepted by the club last night. James F. Baird introduced George A. Cockfair, general superintendent of the Flagg company, who said that his company, had come to Pottstown in 1897, moving into three small buildings; and had progressed to the stage where it now requires floor space of 30 large buildings.

Those present at the meeting were reminded of the display in the "Y" lobby set up by the Flagg company with pictures of its plant and samples of its products on several tables.

Members were informed that the executive committee meeting was postponed until Monday, May 26, at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA.

2 Named to Committee Of Health, Welfare Group

Robert U. Borneman, Sanatoga, and the Rev. Edward Platts, pastor of St. James Episcopal church, Perkiomen, Evansburg, were named to the Montgomery County District committee of the Health and Welfare council.

The Health and Welfare council is a Red Feather agency for coordination and planning of health, welfare and recreation services, and is supported by the Community Chests of Lansdale, Philadelphia and Royersford.

God give us men. The time demands men whom the lust of office does not kill; men whom the spoils of office cannot buy; men who possess opinions and a will; men who have honor; men who will not lie.—Josiah Gilbert Holland.

We Stand United

A few years ago the Army had its "day" and the Navy had its "day," but now there is only one Armed Forces day. Today is it.

The single day of honor for all three defense services recognizes the spirit of the Unification Act, a piece of work which is still in progress.

A few years ago, after two years of "unity," there seemed to be very little of it. That was the period of the open and bitter feud between the Navy and Air Force. But foresighted officers ended the strife.

If there were no officers who had determined ideas about service teamwork, the Unification Act would be a dead letter.

For unification is really a misnomer. The intent of the law is not a complete merger, but co-operation of the services under a unified command. The spirit of co-operation must be created with deliberate care.

Officers of all branches now are given cross-training with other services, and joint maneuvers help to relate the tactics of air, sea and land power.

In the ranks, men are protected by a new standard code of justice, whatever uniform they wear. The services are at work against race discrimination and other problems which disturb the morale of the team.

Unification also has produced more concrete results. There have been many economies in purchasing, maintenance and operations work common to all three branches. For example, two separate air transport commands were merged. A few years ago Gen. Mark Clark reported $14,500,000 in savings through reorganizations in the Sixth Army area alone.

But more important than economy is the recognition of the lesson of the last war.

As Gen. Eisenhower said, "There is no such thing as a separate 'air' war, as a separate 'ground' war, as a separate 'sea' war or 'logistic' war or any other branch."

America's defenses are being rebuilt on this principle.

Steel Boomerang

SOME government spokesmen say the steel industry is not greatly concerned about a wage boost if it can get a good increase in the price of steel. Whether industry leaders are concerned or not, they should be.

Suppose the price administrator allows the $12 a ton increase which management says is necessary to cover wage adjustments the union wants. That would get steel higher priced than it ought to be now or later, especially later.

Steel is in intense demand right now, to be sure. But things may be easier before long. Then the industry might well find itself priced out of some markets. Reduced output would follow. That means laying off workers.

Workers in other industries could suffer too. All lines are not so active as steel. If other businessmen feel the price of steel is too high they may curtail their own activities, postpone plans for expansion. Business drops all around. That's the way depressions are made.

In getting better pay for themselves steel workers may put other workers into idleness. In getting a higher price for steel, management may reduce its own business.

Bonds, One Year Later

IT is worth noting that more than a year has now passed since the hands of the U. S. Treasury were shaken loose from control over interest rates. The Federal Reserve system reasserted some of its powers, and let government securities find their own price level in relation to the price of borrowing money.

The Treasury had insisted that the cost of carrying the national debt should have first consideration, and that interest rates be kept down artificially. Predictions were freely made that the bond market would suffer a serious decline if supports were removed.

Last week U. S. securities were only a small fraction under par. The Federal Reserve has regained its function as a controller of monetary policy, and contributed to the fight against inflation. Once more the Truman administration's contention that every dash needed its guiding hand has been proved false.

Suggests Town Rid Itself of The Burgess

Burgess Should Go

To the Editor: Why doesn't the town get rid of the burgess, William Griffith?

A man is useful to the town and to the citizens only when he performs a useful function.

After reading how he handles things and what he does, I can't understand what useful function he performs in Pottstown.

Surely he can benefit society better as a contractor, which I understand he was before he somehow got the job as burgess. There are plenty of openings for good contractors today.

If Harry Truman can realize that he is no longer of any benefit to the American public, why can't Burgess Griffith? Pottstown WONDERRING

Moral Issue in Steel?

To the Editor: Political self-seekers impudently contend that the basic issue in the steel seizure is whether the President by claiming inherent powers may hold himself above the law.

Any day now I expect to hear these hocus peddlers saying that Senator Kefauver is a Socialist or, at least, radically to the left.

The issue is more simple: Is it right

WASHINGTON
Brannan Tries to Quiet Food Surplus Scandal

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, May 16—Widespread and organized graft involving the loss of many millions in stored government food surpluses would have been suppressed until after the November election for fear of the adverse effect on the farm vote, if it had not been for the sudden spurt in commodity prices after the outbreak of the Korean conflict.

Although not personally connected with these defalcations and outright thievery, Sec. Charles F. Brannan of Denver had pursued a deliberate policy of hush-hushing and covering up this crookedness on the part of politically influential warehouse contractors.

When his aides were criticized by members of the Senate Agriculture Committee for not filing complaints against the offenders with the Department of Justice, the explanation was that the sordid disclosures would have jeopardized the entire farm program.

The crooks who numbered many Democratic figures, operated like dishonest bank officials who juggle their depositors' accounts, and in this instance the American taxpayers were the depositors. The surplus swipers expected to be able to replace the stolen or dissipated stocks before they were caught by calls to deliver or show their inventories.

Incompetent or conniving warehouse inspectors and their supervisors contributed to the successful working of this chicanery. They, too, figured that the slow movement of these surpluses to market would prevent discovery.

Bumper crops in the postwar years, as well as officials' slipshod methods in selecting stocks for sale, seemed to insure that the system could escape detection indefinitely.

NEGLIGENCE: When word of profits from these practices swept through the farm areas, warehousing government surpluses became a popular political enterprise. Party workers entered the business directly or through concealed corporate connections. They leased storage space from War Assets for almost nothing, and then rented it to the Commodity Credit Corporation for bonanza figures.

Although the offices of War Assets and CCC were then only a few blocks apart at the Capital, there was never any cooperation or check-up by the two agencies to prevent this dishonest doubletelling of Uncle Sam.

Agricultural officials showed more consideration for these political lessons than for trusting farmers or the taxpayers. They signed storage contracts for damp, tumbledown and makeshift bins and warehouses, although they knew that the food would rot. In some instances, they guaranteed contractors against any loss from deterioration.

It should be noted here that Republicans as well as Democrats were involved in this skulduggery. It may explain why so many normally Republican farm states went Democratic in 1948.

COGNIZANT: Too many high officials at Washington and in the field were cognizant of these swindles for them not to be known and recognized as illegal practices at Agriculture.

But, just as former Treasury and Internal Revenue higherups tried to cover up personal and official dishonesty in that department, so Agriculture kept the lid on its family skeletons.

If a defaulting warehouse contractor could make good his thievery by replacing the stolen goods, he was not prosecuted. He was given a warning, and his future handling of government property, was scrutinized more carefully.

Before the Korean "police action" began on June 25, 1950, this system of tolerating and forging graft operated smoothly.

Hollywood

By EDITH GWYNN

HOLLYWOOD, May 15—There's fantastic gossip going about town as to why Joan Fontaine suddenly gave in to the demands of her ex, Bill Dozier—and left their dotter, Debbie in this country with him, when she went abroad a few weeks ago for movie-making.

We don't believe the given "reasons"—and besides, they sound like somebody's "bragging"! Incidentally, Aly Khan's current cavorting with Yvonne de Carlo around the Carnes casinos, doesn't mean any more than his dancing fling with Fontaine—last season. But it does get his pictures in the papers. And Aly LOVES that!

Wanna feel old? It's any edition now for the arrival of a third GRANDchild at the Lon Chaney, JUNIOR'S! . . . Jennifer Jones, plus Charlton Heston hit Hollywood next week to co-star in "RUBY GENTRY" for an independent company. King Vidor directs. . . Ed Wynn celebrates fifty years in show business this week by tossing a cocktail party for Donald O'Connor at the new and soooo attractive Interlude Room tomorrow. This boite, with its breath-taking view of the whole city, is on top of the Sunset Strip's newly opened Crescendo, where Billy Eckstine is doing some mighty fancy singing.

BARBARA RUICK had a "brief interlude" with Blake Edwards, but we saw her back to dating Carleton Carpenter at the Crescendo again. Barbara just landed the femme lead with Gilbert Roland in "Apache Trail." . . . That G. I. entertaining tour of Danny Kaye's we itemed about, will be extended to include bases in N. Africa—and all over Europe. Then Danny does his stuff in theatres throughout the British Isles. Strangely enough, he'll skip London where he was such a tremendous hit couple years ago. . . . Flying To Mexico... Gets Gotham Diploma...

★ SOUTH OF RIO GRANDE—Six Pottstonians are packing bags for a trip south of the Rio Grande. They'll wind up in old Mexico, there to attend the convention of Rotary International. Early starters to the land of the hot tamale will be Dr. and Mrs. Harold C. Baumann, 918 North Washington street, who'll hop into their automobile this afternoon to start a drive to Mexico City. Wednesday a pair of Rotary officers and their wives, Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Heise, 874 North Franklin street, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Nagle, Wilson road and Burdian drive, will fly to Mexico City. They'll leave Philadelphia at 8 a.m., will arrive in Mexico City at 7.30 that night—which they think will be before the Baumanns' arrive. Nagle is a past president of Rotary. Heise is the incoming president. . . .

HEISE AND NAGLE are delegates to the Rotary convention. They'll be battling there for the election of Andy Vaughan, Pottstonian, as director of Rotary zone 5—which is a large area of the Eastern seaboard, from Maine to Maryland and west to Pittsburgh. . . . A Roystersford man, K. Yakubowski, is the new Reading company station master at Collegeville. He succeeded Oran L. Grove, who was station agent there for 14 years. Grove retired after 50 years with the Reading company.

★ GRADUATES—Alvin Weiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Weiss, 259 Chestnut street, is among this year's Columbia university, New York, graduates. He'll be graduated from the law school this June. . . . Nicholas DiTullo, son of Mr. and Mrs. N. DiTullo, 624 Chestnut street, a junior at Penn State college, will attend a six-week reserve officers training corps Summer camp at Ft. Belvoir, Va., beginning June 21. . . . The cynic on the high bar stool said the man who has no secrets from his wife, either has no secrets or no wife! . . . SUNSHINE CORNER—There's a chance here to spread a little cheer. An 80-year-old is shutin, after suffering fractured legs which sent her to the Pottstown hospital. Now she's out, but would be happy to get cards. She's Mrs. Sarah Macheimer, Spring-Ford Nursing Manor, 601 Church street, Roystersford.

SATURDAY SNICKER—Hardly a day passes around here but someone gripes about inflation. According to the Atlanta Constitution, we don't know what inflation is compared to the natives of Lagos in the Nigerian province of Africa. Years ago a sturdy man could support any number of wives but today men are being forced to be monogamous because of inflation. Present costs for a wife now run as high as $317 according to official figures, as follows: Bride, $31; fish and kola nuts, $9; sheep or cash equivalent, $14; drummer and dancers, $28; fee for parent's consent, $30; services of oracle, $5; gifts such as dresses, hand sewing machines and bicycles, $200. And when you consider you also inherit a mother-in-law the price isn't worth it.

★ MOVERS—Robert and Dorothy Weidner have purchased the former Thomas S. Reidenouer home at 252 Chestnut street and are in the throes of moving into it. . . . Worried is the FBI. Close checks are being kept on Pottstown because the G-men fear Reading racketeers, chased out of the Berks county seat by a reform political regime, will settle here. . . . GIVE AWAY DEPT.—Robert McCullough, Mauger's Mill road, Pottstown RD 3, has two wire-haired terriers he will give to the first callers. They are a 1½-year-old female and her two-months-old female pup.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMANN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

IN THE COURSE of life, most people learn that certain diseases bring spots on the skin—for example, measles. Other infectious diseases that cause a skin rash or mucous membrane eruption include typhoid, typhus, scarlet fever and smallpox.

Drugs and chemicals which injure the blood can also bring bleeding beneath the tissues. Thus, arsenic, carbon tetrachloride, chloroform, benzene and gold salts may cause severe injury to the blood platelets, one of the substances found in blood needed to make the blood clot. Heavy doses of X-ray and severe allergies may also cause bleeding beneath the tissues.

There are some cases for which we find no cause. Sometimes these clear up by themselves, but now and then they continue for a long time. In many of these cases the condition first appears before the age of 20, and returns from time to time. More women than men seem to have this type of purpura.

When a case of this type fails to clear up by itself, a doctor should make an examination to discover the cause so he can prescribe the correct treatment. He usually finds the spleen is greatly enlarged, and the bone marrow is not manufacturing enough blood platelets.

If, in addition, a blood examination shows there are not enough platelets in the blood, the condition usually requires a surgical operation to remove the spleen. Such an operation often results in the cure of two-thirds of these cases, but is performed only when the patient has no spots or other signs of purpura.

In cases with active bleeding, the condition is sometimes helped by repeated transfusions of blood.

FARMER KILLED

There was nothing you could do. "She was just a-crying and she said: 'How can we get him out?'" "She says: 'Is he gone?' And I says I don't know. Course I knew he was."

Bush, whose opinion of Jones was, "I'm 68 years old and he's the nicest man I ever worked for," ran nearly a quarter-mile to the property of Charles Dampman, coal and fuel-oil dealer, to get help.

Three men came back with Bush in one of Dampman's big dump trucks. The men tried to raise the tractor with the truck and a cable, but this proved impossible.

MEANWHILE, Mrs. Jones had run several hundred yards to their Colonial stone house (where Jones was born) and telephoned for a Good Will ambulance.

Neighbors, the truckers and Good Will ambulance crewmen directed by company chief Robert Roth, succeeded in pushing the tractor up from Jones' body.

The ambulance arrived at Pottstown hospital about 25 minutes after the crewmen first got the call at 3:55 o'clock, but Jones was pronounced dead on arrival by Dr. Ralph H. Merkel.

Jones was the third well-known Pottstown area man to be killed by a tractor in the past four years.

His modern, lightweight tractor was almost identical with a tractor that was lifted backward in the mud by its own power and that killed 55-year-old Nicholas Morello, Pottstown RD 3, on May 9, 1949.

Morello was a former butcher and owner of Sunset park, Ringling Hill.

ON JUNE 17, Furman H. Gyger, 60, Kimberton, five-time Republican representative to the State legislature and a leader of East Vincent Reformed church, was killed when his tractor plunged down a 5-foot embankment.

Bush, who helped Jones with tractor work occasionally, summarized how he thought yesterday's accident must have happened, judging from the tracks and depressions in the field and the position of Jones' body.

Jones was driving the tractor near the middle of the field. The tractor was pulling the harrow with discs that broke the dirt. Behind the discs was a "drag" board.

He reached a spot that had a dry soft crust but was very moist underneath. The disks dug into the ground and stuck there. Jones, who was by himself in the 5-acre field, unhitched the tractor-disk coupling.

He ran a short chain from the rear of the tractor to the harrow. The 24 metal disks moved forward a few feet, but the big rubber-tired wheels of the tractor dug in to the mud.

Then, Bush said, "The tractor must've just rared up and fell right backwards."

MRS. JONES told friends that while she was hanging out the wash, she noticed that the noise of the tractor's engine had stopped.

As she was hanging up another piece, she looked uneasily at the open field and saw the front wheels in the air. She went to the front of the house and shouted for help from neighbors, then ran to the field.

Bush, who was by the yards where Jones has 6000 chickens, said he saw Mrs. Jones running. I knew she wouldn't run like that for the telephone... Then I knew what had happened."

The three men who came in the dump truck were Ray Bertriker, Robert Rightmire and Judy Hampton. It was impossible to raise the tractor by truck-and-cable without the risk of crushing Jones further.

With Roth in the ambulance were Edward Seeders and Walter Reahm. They drove the ambulance as close to the tractor as was possible on the rough dirt. They and the other men raised the tractor by pushing upward on one of the rear wheels. The rear wheels are about four feet in diameter.

THE MEN tried to spare Mrs. Jones the shock of learning he was dead, but she sensed it in a few minutes. As three men led her away toward the house, a few minutes before the body was picked up, she was sobbing hysterically.

As she reached the yard, she called out to a woman neighbor coming toward the slowly-walking group: "He's gone! He's gone! I know it!"

The body was released to a funeral home at 359 King street after Berks County Coroner Paul D. Good was notified. West Reading State Trooper David Martin investigated.

Jones was a son of the late Howard W. and Elizabeth (Smith) Jones. The father was a poultryman on the same Shadow farm, which is along Temple (also known as Shenkel) road, a few blocks south of 83 in Union township, Berks county.

Jones had been in the poultry business for the past 35 years. On Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, he operated the truck route, serving Pottstown homes.

His green tractor bears the sign, "Fancy Butter and Eggs. G. Burton Jones, Douglassville."

A MEMBER of St. James Lutheran church for many years, he also was a member of its Men's Bible class. He was in line for re-election to its church council at the end of the year's wait between terms that is customary in that church.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth (Longaker) Jones, and four children: Mildred E. and Frederick B., at home; Robert D., 267 Chestnut street, and Marion L., at home.

Also surviving are two sisters, Frances, wife of Frank McAleer, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Marion, wife of Charles Ebaugh, Haverstown, Delaware county, and two brothers, Granville Jones, Carcroft, Pa., and Donald G. Jones, Douglassville.

Services will be held Tuesday

Before Sudden Death

G. Burton Jones, Douglassville RD 1 poultryman who was killed by his tractor yesterday, poses with his wife, Elizabeth, by the stone home where he spent all 54 years of his life. Mrs. Jones was the first one to reach the body of her husband. He had died almost instantly of a crushed chest.

afternoon at 2 o'clock from a funeral home at 359 King street. The Rev. Edward S. Horn, pastor of St. James Lutheran church, will officiate.

Interment will be made in St. Michael's cemetery, Birdsboro.

Boy's Arm Fractured In Tumble From Board

Ronald Strunk, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strunk, 216 River road, South Pottstown, suffered a fracture of the left arm yesterday afternoon when he fell from a board on which he was climbing.

The youngster told his parents he had been climbing on the board in a neighbor's yard when he fell about two feet to the ground.

His mother took him to Memorial hospital for treatment of the fracture.
